YE EDITOR SAYS

ACTORS DO WORK

A recent news dispatch from Los Angeles, printed in practically all newspapers, states that the Motion Picture Producers' Association, of which Will H. Hays is head, had invited overworked actors to make proper complaint to that body. It is brought out in the dispatch that actors and actresses sometimes are kept at work for 18 hours continuously and then required to report promptly for work again at an hour precluding the possibility of obtaining a proper amount of sleep.

Many of those who think and speak lightly of the motion picture business and its people will be surprised to learn that actors really do work. It is a fact, however, that when production is at its height the players, directors and others, engaged in studio work are kept at high tension never experienced in more familiar lines of endeavor.

To quote the oft-quoted Aesop, "All is not gold that glitters."

THE MISSING CYLINDER OF A COMMUNITY

The progressive town is like a fine six or eight cylinder car, purring along evenly as it carries its passengers, the residents of the community, over the hills that stand in the way of prosperity.

But sometimes a good-looking town like a beautiful car, will roll along evenly while the roads are level, but upon reaching a hill of business adversity, will slow up, knock and jerk, and finally come to a dead stop before it reaches the crest.

A missing cylinder, you say? Yes, and that missing cylinder is the man or woman who shows no interest in the welfare of the community.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

The best authors of all nations write, directly or indirectly, for the screen.

Sight is the most cherished human sense. The general manager of the Motion Picture Theatres of Marion is appealing to and dependent upon that sense, guided by a deep appreciation of that fact in his selection of picture programs.

If everybody in this community attended the "movie" theatres once and then quit, the theatres would close in a week. They've got to please you so well that you want to come back.

Static never interferes with your view of a motion picture. A theatre admission entails no "upkeep cost." "For the Freedom of the See."

EDUCATION IN SHOP WINDOWS

The shop windows of Marion have never appeared to better advantage than now. The individual who has not walked around the square recently "window-shopping" should do so tonight. Show windows are an educational device of real merit. They instruct as truly as the most carefully written textbook. They aid us in our daily work by keeping us up-to-date, exhibiting the latest efforts of the designer, the manufacturer, the inventor, the chemist, and all the tribe of men who move the world's cog-wheels. And Marion's shop windows rank high in this pedagogical effort. They show that "Marion has the goods." No need for local residents to go away to larger towns to purchase needed articles, wearable or otherwise. The suit, the hat, the book, the new dining table, the bit of decoration, the gift—anything you want or need is on display in the show windows of your own city. Better take a look at them—tonight.

Notes from Movieland

Gloria Swanson adds a new nationality to her long list of characterizations in "Wages of Virtue," her new picture. For the first time in her career she plays an Italian girl.

* * * *

Wallace McDonald will be Norma Talmadge's new leading man in her next picture, "The Lady."

* * * *

Ian Keith, who scored a success for himself in Gloria Swanson's "Manhandled," will be seen in support of Corinne Griffith in "Wilderness."

* * * *

D. W. Griffith's great masterpiece, "America," will be shown in Marion next month. It is declared by many critics to be more wonderful than "The Birth of a Nation," more thrilling than "Way Down East."

* * * *

Beautiful Gladys Hulette, leading lady in the films, can't find her husband. She wants to file a suit for separation from him, so she has asked for court permission to notify him through newspaper advertisements of the contemplated action. Their martial troubles have extended over a long period.

* * * *

Having finished "Hot Water," Harold Lloyd has departed for a month's vacation in New York, accompanied by his mother and brother. While he is away, Mildred and the baby Gloria Lloyd are spending the summer days at Coronado.

* * * *

There is another star in the house of Kirkwood—James Kirkwood Jr., whose recent arrival was heralded with joy by his famous father and mother, James Kirkwood and Lila Lee.

* * * *

Estelle Taylor, fiancee of Jack Dempsey, is to make a picture in New York at the studios Mae Murray used when she was working in the East. The working title is "The Dangerous Sex." Miss Taylor is not to go into vaudeville with Jack Dempsey, as has been previously reported.

* * * *

After many months of active preparation in the construction of stupendous sets and the selection of a cast of celebrated screen players, Director General Fred Niblo has begun active work on the filming of General Lew Wallace's novel and stage play, "Ben Hur" in Rome for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Among the principal players in the cast here are Roman Novarro, who enacts the part of Ben Hur, Carmel Myers, Francis X. Bushman, Neigel de Brulier, Kathlyn Key, Claire McDowell, Frank Currier and May McAvoy.

BABY PEGGY

Baby Peggy stars in a gripping story of domestic tangles, jealousies and infatuations, in "The Law Forbids," her latest release, with an exceptional cast, which comes Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to the Lyric Theatre. Of course, the Baby Bernhardt is an innocent figure in the tangle, but she repairs a wrecked romance charmingly. The notable cast, including Robert Ellis, Elinor Fair, Joseph Downing, Winifred Bryson and other standard artists, supports her.

MEIGHAN AS A CROOK

"I am here to interest you in something which every business man should have—I know you're a business man of great prominence, and so I know that you will welcome my visit. A prominent business man of your calibre and ability will appreciate these volumes."

That's the way Thomas Meighan as Dan Corvan in "The Confidence Man," unwittingly talks himself into a position of fake bond salesman. His prospective customer is so taken with his "line" as a book agent that he employs him on the spot to sell International Oil, a flock of worthless stock, which he is trying to unload on some unsuspecting victims.

But Corvan can sell anything to anybody. See him do it in "The Confidence Man" at the Luna Lite Theatre, Sunday to Wednesday. Virginia Valli is leading woman.

Buying it in Marion

By the Shopper

"Shoppers," a veteran shopkeeper once said to me, "are of two classes, and only two. Some like to shop, and some have shopping thrust upon them. Beware of the shopper who shops for the love of it—he knows!"

Whether or not I "know," it is most certainly true that I am of the class that shops for the love of it. I like a sale better than a ball game. I'd rather read ads in a newspaper than the society column. And next to shopping and reading ads, I like best to talk about bargains. So that's what I'm going to do in this space each week. Of course I'll talk about other things, but they'll all be things you and I are interested in.

And speaking of interesting things, can you imagine anything more interesting than the stores and windows in Marion this Fall? Really, I think that it would be mighty hard to find a city the size of Marion that offers more interesting things for women to enthuse over and talk about than can be found in our stores.

Did you attend Ralph Roessler's opening? I heard people to the right and left of me gasping, "Oh!" and "ah!" at the wondrous beauty of the new store. One woman almost fainted when she got a view of the 16-karat diamond on display. Possibly the writer was that woman.

And while we are on the subject of new stores, we are going to get real mad at Bob Hutton if he doesn't hurry up and open those beautiful new windows in front of the C. & H. They've been covered up so long. I'm just dying to see what Bill Griest is going to show in them the first time.

By the way, have you noticed the new lighting fixtures in the windows of the Queen City? Really, I think they're beautiful. I have been trying to talk "Hubby" into buying one for our dining room.

Cunning? Yes! I refer to Johnny Raymond, Marion's football player. This may be a rather new word in speaking of men, but I prefer to use it instead of saying he is "cute." 'Tis true, he's rather fat, but that doesn't keep him from being real "cunning." And say, he certainly can play football.

Every time I come down town I want to go by Kelley's beautiful new windows. I like them very much. Really, I am getting proud of Marion. We have some real show places in this community.

I see that our old friends, "Sam and Chris," have bought the Chocolate shop. Success, boys, you deserve it.

I wish that Seymour Marks would stage a style show every month. Really, I think the last one he put over was the best yet. I don't see why he didn't use the Indiana Theatre, since it wasn't being used that evening. Next time, Seymour, let us have seats, to enjoy such a splendid style show.

I didn't know that Grant County had such good looking young men until I received one of Price's 1924 booklets. When it comes to good looking models, we have the rest of the world backed off the board. Don't you think so?

The Boston Store certainly looks good these days. For their Golden Harvest Sale they have used a rich, inviting color scheme.

Talking of loud speakers, I heard Morris Callahan's (I refer to his radio) in front of the Observer last Saturday night. He certainly had a crowd listening to President Coolidge's address.

That's all for this week. Will see you here next week.

FERDIE NESSEL

"Nobody ever looked like that!"

You've said it many times when you looked at a style illustration.

Here's a picture of a young man you know, wearing one of the striking overcoat models taken from our regular stock.

It's only a question of where you buy your clothes. You too can have "that tailored" look.

SPORT GOSSIP

"Lefty" Lee, the lengthy left end of the Jefferson of Lafayette High School football team, which was walloped by Marion here October 11th, is one of the fleetest high school baseball players in the state. His long reach and speed in the outfield was one of the reasons for Jeff's spectacular baseball team this year.

More and more attention is being given to the Sweetser Independents football team. They beat the Marion Centrals 7 to 6 at Sweetser, October 12th, and before that defeated the Wabash Shamrocks in their opening game. Football Followers are beginning to show a desire of attending the Sweetser games.

Speaking of bowling, it was a long time before one of our local newspaper cub reporters could get wise to who this fellow "Blind" player on several of the teams in the City Bowling League was.

Coach Thomas and the Marion team are figuring on the Muncie Bearcats, whom they meet October 18th at Muncie, as being the hardest of the remaining games on the football schedule. This is also the opinion of fans over the city.

season for the football squad. The Jefferson game on October 11th was thought to be the toughest on the lineup of games.

They say over at Van Buren that Coach Scott Lane, who is already working the candidates for the basketball team, has a real "find" in Welch, corn-fed youngster who towers nearly six feet in the air, and who is said to be warming the hearts of Van Buren fans by his practice work at center.

* * *

One of the finest things in the country, relative to basketball, is the spirt with which the town of Fairmount is behind their new high school coach, Paul White, the DePauw flash of last year. Fairmount is also practicing basketball, already.

The flag-raising before each football game at Memorial Field is carried out in a most worthy manner. The high school band, just organized these first months of school, plays the music for the ceremony and then blares forth the National Anthem.

Marion's first out-of-town football game is at Muncie, about the time you are reading this. There's quite a crowd from the "old burg" going.

At the Jefferson game, October 11th, the Purple and Gold cheer section of Marion students did their bit and more. The first cheer was "Hello Jeff, Marion says Hello," the second was for Hal Chasey, and the third for Jefferson.

Chasey is a mere boy, whose brain, courage and speed enabled him to be selected as the substitute quarterback on the Marion squad. He suffered a bad injury to his foot in a scrimmage one evening recently and may be out of the game for the rest of the season.

* * *

Almost all the talk is football, but basketball is coming.

Fashion

All the members of the Brown Family are welcomed in the society of Smart colors this Fall.

There's a new red called Cranberry that's particularly lovely for coats trimmed with grey fur.

Smart new Satin pumps for Fall are in a delectable pale new brown called amber.

Your hat this Fall may be as picturesque as you please—as large or as small.

Buttons-- Buttons-- Buttons! And then again--Buttons! They do everything this Fall from trimming the simplest of street frocks to forming the shoulder bouquet (Yes!) for a chiffon velvet evening dress.

The most flattering hat that a woman can wear---the large drooping black shape--is, this fall, as chic as it's flattering.

Gloves are very simple--the slip-on style, with absolutely no ornamentation is a favorite, especially in the new soft brown tones.

There is a new green called shutter green that is excellent for a street frock of faille or wool reps.

There is a new fur called silver chipmunk that is used for trimming on new imports from Paris.

Silver muskrat, another new fur development is used to line or to trim smart semi-sport coats.

If you choose a small hat for fall be sure that it has a high crown. And if you wish to be particularly chic, add a high buckle, too.

Dark dresses for street and afternoon are showing white collar and cuffs, oftener than that of real lace.

New coats show a flaring tunic across the back, with a perfectly straight front line.

The very narrow fur binding that encircles the entire edge of the coat, or possibly only the collar and front edge, is a distinguishing feature of the new coats.

Separate coats of light weight woolens achieve the correct supple line with warmth at the same time, by using woolens for lining. Sometimes the lining is plaid, sometimes plain in color, of a contrasting shade.

A CLEAN FILM

Viola Dana lost three pounds in weight and acquired a sore back the first day of production of "Open All Night." Several scenes at the beginning of the picture are laid in a extremely ornamental bathtub. Viola Dana occupied the spotlight—and the tub. From nine o'clock till five she sat in a constantly replenished solution of hot soapsuds, diligently scrubbing her back with long-handled brush to the accompaniment of humorous remarks from Jetta Goudal, Adolphe Menjou, Raymond Griffith, Maurice B. Flynn and Gale Henry grouped on the edge of the set. All the aforementioned players are featured in "Open All Night," Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Luna Lite Theatre.

THRILLS GALORE

The engagement of Emory Johnson's epic drama of American life, "Spirit of U. S. A.," which comes to the Lyric Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, promises to be a banner bound occasion, replete with all the thrills of a genuine patriotic event. The surge and sweep of American spirit roars and crashes through this extraordinary picture, the stars of which are Mary Carr and Johnnie Walker, who appear together as mother and son.

Many thrills race across the screen. The picture embraces some of the greatest battle scenes ever put upon the silver sheet.

PICKFORD, FAIRBANKS AND NORMA TALMADGE TO BE LASKY STARS?

Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and Norma Talmadge are soon to appear under the Famous Players-Lasky banner, it is reported in New York City.

Following the examples of Harold Lloyd and Rudolph Valentino, who are to release their pictures through Paramount on a percentage basis, these three big stars will, upon completion of their present contracts, take their places in line with the cinema celebrities already in the Lasky fold.

It is said that Mr. Fairbanks and the Misses Pickford and Talmadge have been forced to realized that production costs and other overhead expenses have become so exorbitant that it is impossible to try to compete with the large producers. Hence, Famous Players is likely to gain three stars whose names assure box office receipts.

"OPEN ALL NIGHT"

Film fans in search of novelty in in picture plays will find it in "Open All Night." The picture has for its thrilling background the first six day bicycle race that was ever put on the screen. It will be the main feature at the Luna Lite Theatre for three days, beginning next Thursday. The leading players include Jetta Goudal, Viola Dana, Adolphe Menjou, Maurice (Lefty) Flynn, Raymond, Griffith and Gale Henry.

YE EDITOR SAYS

LADIES AND GENTLEMN

Where is the "rowdy" of yesterday? What has become of the "rough neck," and "smart aleck" found in all public gatherings a few years ago?? Has humanity advanced? It has.

The motion picture theatre has had much to do with the elimination of the "rowdy" and his like. For more than a decade the young boy has had his first experience with public gatherings in the motion picture theatre. The rowdies of ten years ago have outgrown their bad habits and the young boys of ten years ago are the orderly young gentlemen who sit with you in the theatre today.

Mere enforcement of strict house rules could not have effected this change. The fact is that the influence to which the decline of rowdyism can be attributed in large measure is the influence of the motion picture, the greatest teacher of etiquette and manners that civilization has known.

Young folks of today are ladies and gentlemen , partially due to the influence of good motion pictures and the good theatres in which they see them. It is easy to see that the benefits of that influence in this plainly apparent manifestation. Its more deeply seated benefits are even more important.

ASK US

The theatres of Marion receive frequent phone calls from local newspapers asking information about pictures or picture players sought by their subscribers. Of course they give the information. But, now, why not ask the Marion Theatre News?

Newspapers are interested in a thousand things, keeping on file a few facts about each. The Marion Theatre Company is interested in motion pictures exclusively, and it has as a natural result of that interest complete facts and data required to answer the questions of interested enthusiastics.

Ask us—It's our business to tell you.

CIVIC LOYALTY

Loyalty is a creed, a duty and a sentiment.

Particularly is this true of civic loyalty.

It is a creed because the loyal person says:

"I believe in my city, what it is, and what it stands for and what it does."

Loyalty is a duty because it implies allegiance. Every resident of a city, by the very fact of his citizenship, is bound to obey the laws of the city.

Loyalty is a sentiment because it implies affection, love and enthusiasm.

These three are not expressed merely in shouting or boasting. Loyalty to Marion must be lived.

Worry is interest paid on trouble before it becomes due.

Twenty years ago what man believed the "Police Gazette" would be replaced in barber shops by "Vogue" and the "Woman's Home Companion."

* * *

After it is finished, a good picture, like a good book, leaves an impression that you can carry away and remember as a moral or pleasurable reminder long after. It is that kind of pictures that Billy Connors aims to show.

Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and business goes to the devil.

Buying it in Marion

By the Shopper

I know that women and perhaps many men are just "dying' to know who is writing "Buying It In Marion" in the "Marion Theatre News." I wish that I could tell you, but that wouldn't be fair. Nevertheless, many of you know me, because I'm a woman and shop from store to store. I am in and out of all stores in Marion probably know this part of Marion's business as well as anyone. Therefore, I feel qualified in discussing these things.

As I said last week, I love to shop. There's few things I love better. I particularly like to shop in Marion, because this is home and I know the merchants and have confidence in them. Confidence is a wonderful thing in buying.

Incidentally, I ran across a poem this morning, which I'm going to reproduce here and want to dedicate it to the merchants of Marion:

SHOW THE GOODS

When a visitor comes in,
Show the Goods!
Don't stand around and grin—
Show the goods!
There's no first class reason why
You can't sell them if you try,
Folks who didn't come to buy,
Show the goods!

When you're asked, "Do you keep this?"
Show the goods!
Never say, 'What price please, Miss?"
Show the goods!
You won't, if you are really wise,
Begin by asking style or size,
You'll get the goods before their eyes,
Show the goods!

Interest the person first—
Show the goods!
Question methods are the worst—
Show the goods!
It's a sad mistake to say:
"How much do you want to pay?"
Don't go at folks that way—
Show the goods!

Say, the White Dove Park is "some place." I was out there one evening his week. They're ready to open up their new Barbecue dining room. It's going to be a real nice, cozy place and I am sure it will be quite popular. The Butler Music Co. have installed a beautiful electric piano for those who care to dance, they have a good dance floor. Now, you can enjoy Barbecue sandwiches in cabaret style. I noticed several of Marion's well known people out there, including Mr. and Mrs. Ben Larrimer, Mrs. Thad Butler, Mrs. Earl Newhouse and many others.

Thursday I stopped at the Citizens Trust to get a check cashed and after courteously waiting on me, Bob Kiley causally remarked that a great many pictures are overdrawn and a great many bank accounts would be if it weren't for a watchful cashier. I know he wasn't personal because my bank account couldn't be overdrawn because I have nearly a full book of checks that hasn't been used up yet.

Have you seen the attractive new front at Buehler Bros. on S. Washington Street? "Day by day, in every way, the Busy Corner is getting busier." There must be a reason.

The stores are getting real busy-like. Considering the fact that we have had a delightful Fall, real warm, with plenty of sunshine, business seems to be good with Marion stores. I made the rounds last Saturday and nearly every store was well patronized. Regardless of the weather, now's the time to do your fall and early winter shopping. And Marion's the place to do it!

FERDIE NESSEL

Good Sports and Good Sport Clothes

Every man likes a good sport—whether it be in athletics, sport field or business.

We like to think of this store as a place where GOOD SPORTS will find the sort of SPORT CLOTHES they want.

Phil Polley is made up of grit. Bearing a great deal of the Bearcat attack in the Saturday game with Muncie High, Polley received an ugly gash over his eye. Although it bled profusely and hurt, the game young guard refused to call time out, and another Marion player did it for him.

A United Press man from Indianapolis liked the way Tom Black tackled several Bearcats.

Judge Charles is a true sportsman. His automobile carried its limit of boosters for Marion to the Muncie game. Besides attending almost every practice session of the football team, the Judge is a bowling fan, and plays on one of the teams in the City Bowling League. He'll be one of the first to greet basketball this year, too.

About the time this is being read, Marion will be playing Shortridge High eleven of Indianapolis, on Memorial Field. It will be "Shortridge Day" and plans are being made to observe a half holiday.

* * *

Auto races again at Weaver this Sunday. Several Fairmount boys who have been driving in the events this year are expected to enter again.

Barley shot through a three-man interference to make some wonderful dives toward the man carrying the tackles in the Muncie game. His ball was shark-like and the kind you read about in books. Muncie newspaper men were loud in their praise of the Marion star.

Ruf Boston, the little Bearcat left half, plays his game minus a helmet. Barley is known for the same thing, while Johnnie Raymond is also beginning to fall in line.

Ralph Thomas, right end for Marion eleven, is a Christian type of young man. Besides being the president of the Marion Hi-Y Club, he's the power and push behind the high school troop of Boy Scouts, Troop 11.

They call Clyde Boykin "Styleplus" since he's been posing for fashion books.

Rome Calender has added two steel shaft clubs to his big collection of golf trophies. He won the championship at the Meshingomesia Country Club recently and now has his home full of cups and other prizes.

Harold Badger, who appeared in the Marion High School line at tackle early this season, has had his back hurt so that he may not play again this year. Badger was one of the heaviest men who reported for football this year, and was counted upon to greatly strengthen the line.

Eddie Daniels is aching for the basketball season to roll round. Eddie likes the court better than the gridiron, although he need not be ashamed for his performance on both.

Fashion

There is a smart tunic dress for sports and informal wear that uses plaid for the tunic, plain material for the skirt, or vice versa.

If you can't wear the high, square crown successfully, don't despair! For some of the smartest and newest hats are showing round crowns again.

A tiny black velvet hat with three red camellias ascending the crown is chic just now.

The new bracelets have a pendant fastening.

Three important lessons in the Book of Fall Fashions are the slim silhouette, the very decidedly shorter skirts and the continual and continued and consistent favor of the tunic!

The smartest glove at the present moment is the washable chamois slipon—worn a trifle large.

The most popular afternoon dress is the dress of two surfaces of lustrous satin crepe.

Gilded or silver kid is a new note in trimming—used for hats as well as dresses.

One of the most successful Fall dresses yet shown is an adaption of a Lanvin two-piece model, so slim and straight that it looks exactly like a one-piece frock.

Let your black dress have a gleam of color about it—or a bit of metal trimming.

Keep right on wearing your wide kid belt—unless you get one a little wider. One smart debautante has a half a dozen, of different colors to wear with the same frock (though not all at once).

Long, straight, double-breasted coats and coat-frocks are direct descendents of the Directoire period.

The smartest fabrics for sport and informal wear is Kasha or some woolen of the Kasha family.

The Hat with the Bias line is the Hat of the moment—a tiny, tiny brim upturned and slanting across the line of the crown.

For evening wear, velvets, ombre chiffon, metal laces and brocades.

Evening hose may be a pale mauve, or a lovely pale cream to match the arms and shoulders exposed in evening dress.

The mannish tailored coat dress is worn by smartly dressed women almost as consistently as the O'Roseen tailleur was worn last spring.

A last minute word from Paris tells us of the revival of the very large wool scarf, worn a la Dickens comforter!

A smart choker is of silver filagree beads, large and round, with a tiny jet bead between.

REMARKABLE PERFORMANCE

Jobyna Ralston is a diligent person. Harold Lloyd's leading lady, who gives a remarkable performance for a youngster in "Girl Shy," the peerless American comedian's latest feature Pathecomedy, takes full advantage of her spare time during picture production by improving her education—and her golf!

Bashfulness that bubbles over with laughter will arrive in town Sunday when Harold Lloyd's latest feature Pathecomedy, "Girl Shy," opens at the Luna Lite Theatre, where it will be shown all week.

NOW A PRODUCER

Harold Lloyd is now a producer. In addition to being the world's foremost screen comedian, Lloyd is introduced to the public also as one of the leading producers of the industry in his most recent feature Pathe comedy, "Girl Shy," which will be shown at the Luna Lite Theatre.

D. W. GRIFFITH'S LATEST SOON TO COME TO MARION

D. W. Griffith's latest production, "America," will be one of the most interesting photoplays shown on the Marion theatre screen this season. According to reports from cities where this great drama has already been presented, "America" will rank favorably with "The Birth of a Nation," the great producer's first attempt in the realm of super-pictures. Neil Hamilton, a Griffith "find"; Carol Dempster, who has been featured in other Griffith productions; and Lionel Barrymore are seen in the leading roles in this beautifully produced story of America during the Revolutionary War. Louis Wolheim, Riley Hatch, Charles Emmett Mack, Lucille LaVerne and Arthur Donaldson are a few of the well-known names appearing in the cast of this dramatic and powerful story.

A hiatus in the community existed which the Marion Theatre News fills in a very thorough manner.

Really, I feel that the name of the publication should be changed, "as action speak louder than words," hence the name Community Welder suggests itself very forcibly.

However, the magazine is very neat, newsie and snappy, serving the whole population with wholesome reading material.

CROWDS SPELLS B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Sufficient proof of the Marion Theatre News' contention that Marion is on the very verge of one of the greatest business booms it has ever experienced, was had Saturday in the number of people circulating about the business district of the city. Not for many months have the stores, the sidewalks and the streets been so crowded. Parking space for automobiles simply did not exist; cars were standing three deep all around the Square.

Saturday's crowds were but the harbingers of other greater business-bringing gatherings yet to come.

Cheer up, and quit trying to kid yourself into believing business is rotten.

amusements without responsibility have passed after brief popularity into the discard. Marion theatres endure for the fundamental reason that their director realizes a definite responsibility to the citizens of this community.

Man takes good care of himself when he is busy. In his working hours he has no time nor inclination for "mischief." It is in his hours of relaxation, stimulating mental occupation, inspiration. It sends him away a better man for his visit and a happier one. He goes back to his work with freshened vigor and renewed determination to succeed.

This, in part, is the theatre's responsibility.

PICTURE PREFERENCES

Picture preferences vary. You may like domestic drama, your neighbor on the right may prefer western melodrama, while your neighbor on the left is happiest when watching the Northwest Mounted Police track the burly villain to his lair. Trying to select a picture program on purely typical qualifications to please all patrons of Marion theatres would be a complex task indeed.

Principles, however, do not vary. A thing is right or wrong, good or bad, whether the scene be Trenton, N. J., or Timbuctoo. You approve or you do not approve, and your neighbors on both sides agree with you.

The management of the five theatres in Marion, therefore, books pictures by principal. It books the best entertainment available, so long as it is clean, constructive and fundamentally worthy. It has exhibited at no time the slightly off color, catchpenny type of attraction that draws a big momentary support from the rabble while depriving the representative citizens of his entertainment. The management is rewarded by your support and the enviable place in the community you have granted their theatres.

The Best Place to Shop After All

Buying it in Marion

By the Shopper

I gathered these observations while window shopping around the Square one afternoon this week.

How surprising! A place to park!

Flappers in bright flannel dresses and matrons in summer linens. Nice melancholy days, these. Prominent attorney with a fat cigar. Rural shoppers. Little girl with big doll. Do your Crristmas shopping early! Several members of the great unwashed. Black satin frocks with dashes of brilliant color. Everyone seems dressed up today. New clothes, I suppose. Loud sweater coat. Violent nude hose. Cute little dog on a lash. 'Fraid it will bite somebody—or somebody will bite it. Tan shoes and hose. There goes Marion's best dressed young matron. Election card—won't be long now. Beautiful enclosed car. Fine weather to go someplace. O hum! Spring fever in Indian summer.

"The Shopper" has noticed that considerable improvement has been made in various parts of Marion by use of paint and brush. Much more could be made at very little expense. Once this "Clean-up" spirit gets a big boost, it becomes contagious. Let's get busy and spread this contagion. Marion will look better and the residents will feel better.

I also notice that there is quite a bit of building going on in Marion at this time. That indicates a steady, healthy growth of our city.

My good friend, Howard W. Hooper, of the Universal Motor Co., has a very striking Fall window display. He has erected a striking Trapper's Log Cabin in the background, surrounded by natural trees and brush. The front is entirely covered by leaves. A gun stands by the cabin door. At night a big Indiana moon shows over the cabin. In the foreground o Ford Coupe is parked. It's a very striking and realistic window trim. Congratulations, Mr. Hooper.

Meyer, the Jeweler, has a very pretty window display. He is featuring the new "Baby Peggy" jewelry. In the window display he is showing a large cutout of Baby Peggy on which is displayed the Baby Peggy bracelets, Baby Peggy rings and Baby Peggy necklaces. This display has created quit a bit of talk, especially among the little girls.

"Bimbo," the home talent show staged by the Junior Association of Commerce, certainly made a distinctive hit. Regardless of the fact that many of the principals forgot their parts and had some difficulty in getting on and off the stage, this all goes in a home talent production. Those who packed the house for the two performances got their money's worth and we haven't heard a single kick. The Junior Association of Commerce is certainly a live-wire organization and deserves the whole-hearted support of the entire community. They are doing a splendid work.

Looks like a family affair, this—Warner Brothers have just produced "Lucretia Lombard" from Kathleen Norris' famous novel of loveless marriages. Quite a number of tailored suits are in evidence on Fifth Avenue, those worn by the smartest women often severely plain and supplemented by a small fur neckpiece.

Skirts are decidedly short, many being a little below the knee.

Wide suede belts in a variety of colorings are being extensively worn on simple cloth frocks.

The very popular plaids are making their appearance in three-piece costumes where the plain coat, trimmed and lined with plaid is completed by a tunic frock of plaid bordered in solid color. Green seems to be especially well liked in this connection.

Aside from sable and silver fox, fisher scarfs are enjoying a considerable vogue among the elite.

An interesting sports frock worn by a debutante en prominade the other day, was a broken plaid with a gray background marked with fine red and black lines. It was without trimming and mannishly tailored. With it she wore a sweeping hat of gray felt with matching satin ribbon around the base of the crown.

Beaver on sand color is a popular combination for street suits or ensembles.

The surplice coat frock seems quite as well liked as it was in the spring, judging from the number seen about. An interesting one was of sand colored cloth outlned with a narrow banding of beaver alternated with tangerine colored velvet.

At the New York Horse Show the opening afternoon, the use of narrow flat fur bandings on coats and dresses were remarked. They appeared in accenting the lines of the garment, on collars and cuffs and frequently on borders.

Two types of millinery were outstanding at the Horse Show one afternoon, the simple felt without trimming, or perhaps with a jewelled pin, or else the close turban of velvet or felt, trimmed with wide soft ribbon in a looped treatment at one side.

Effective touches on sport felts are bandings of pheasant feathers or partridge breasts.

A striking suit seen at the Horse Show was of green covert perfectly plain, with which a brown velvet turban and a sable scarf were worn.

An interesting detail of some of the smartest costumes is the square cut shoulder which is in decided contrast to the sloping line so long in vogue.

For the fall season flares and definite fastenings are interesting features in smart coats seen on Fifth Avenue. An example of the latter mode is bresented in a llight beige sports coat introducing the flare in the front panel, which was caught with a half belt of self fabric, in contrast to the straight back.

Plaid pipings outlined with the border of a kasha coat rounded in the front panel where the patterned fabric met and was caught with a narrow belt.

Gray and white in a soft, brushed texture were combined in an ensemble costume which posed a three-quarter over a one-piece frock with corresponding side pleated panels in both.

Large block plaids set on the bias formed the capelet of a striking coat in shades of tan and brown interspersed with orange.

Tapestry designs brought interest to a knitted coat with cross stitch patterns worked on a mesh ground. Dyed fitch formed the collar and cuffs.

REMARKABLE CHARACTERIZATIONS

In "Lucretia Lombard," the latest Warner Brothers classic, Irene Rich plays the title role in one of the most remarkable characterizations she ever portrayed. She is a beautiful woman of the world, tempered and purified by a tragic experience. She is at her best in this production. It will play at the Lyric Theatre from Sunday to Wednesday.

THE GOOD BAD MAN IS BACK AGAIN

Rudie Valentino is himself again, the good bad man. With all the lure of the romance of Julio in the "The Four Horsemen" and the wickedness of Juan Gallardo in "Blood and Sand," he comes back as Don Alonso in "A Sainted Devil," a story of wild love and adventure in Argentine. Slouched hat, high boots, striped shirt, gay neckerchief, draped scrape, wide trousers, knife and loaded riding whip. And he makes love to all the girls, the final fortunate one being Helene D'Algy, beautiful in her Spanish costume. "A Sainted Devil" comes to the Luna Lite November 16th to 19th.

PATHOS, PEP AND POLITICS

Pathos, pep and politics are the ingrediants that make "The Speed Spook," with Johnny Hines, which comes to the Luna Lite this week, a most enjoyable production. Pathos at its best is shown in the struggle of the girl to make a success of a man's job; pep just dominates the entire picture with its breezy star, its exciting automobile race and the sequence showing an army tank ploughing through an arsenal wall; and politics wherein Johnny does a bit of original electioneering to elect his sweetheart's father to the sheriff's office. This triumvirate of pathos, pep and politics makes "The Speed Spook" the best feature melocomedy Johnny Hines has made to date.

ELINOR GLYN'S "HIS HOUR" BREAKING RECORDS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY

Elinor Glyn's "His Hour," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, produced by King Vidor under the personal supervision of the author, having scored sensationally at the Capitol Theatre, New York, is repeating this success throughout the country. Record breaking business has been reported by the Rialto Theatre, Los Angeles; by the State Theatre, St. Louis; by Loew's Palace, Washington, D. C.; by the Capitol Theatre, Detroit, Michigan.; and by the Stanley Theatre in Philadelphia. Mrs. Glyn is backing her picture with her personal appearance in San Francisco. John Gilbert and Aileen Pringle have the leading roles in this production.

With the exception of "The Ten Commandments," "Feet of Clay" is by far De Mille's best production to date—and one of the finest pictures for all-round entertainment and thrills we have ever seen.

A GOOD THEATRE

A good theatre is something more than a playhouse where good shows are presented. It is a place where good people go to have a good time together. It is a business institution with a good influence upon the community, serving a good purpose by making a good time possible at a moderate price.

Good equipment, good attractions and good intentions are essential to the maintenance of any good theatre. Good attendance is just one of the rewards. Good friends is a more important one.

Your attendance and your friendship have convinced us that you consider the playhouses in Marion GOOD theatres.

"LILY OF THE DUST"

"Lily of the Dust," Pola Negri's new starring vehicle for Paramount, with Ben Lyon, Noah Berry, Raymond Griffith and others just as prominent playing in support, comes to the Luna Lite Theatre for a run from Sunday to Wednesday. The story is an adaptation of the immensely popular novel and stage play, "The Song of Songs." It is the story of a young girl and her fight against life—a girl whose beauty and appeal to men is a liability rather than an asset to her. Here's the greatest emotional star on the screen today in what is destined to be the most talked about picture of the current season.

"THE FAST SET"—WILLIAM DE MILLE FILM

Philanderers have one redeeming feature—they make indifferent husbands appreciate their own wives!

In "The Fast Set," which William de Mille produced at the Paramount West Coast Studio, a "great lover" really saves a family from disruption by making love to the author's wife.

The husband is so busy writing love stories about fictional characters that he is blind to the charms of his wife. But when a popular "great lover," leader of the "fast set," dares to show an interest in the young woman, the author fights back. As soon as the philanderer seems to want her, the husband realizes that he, too, wants her.

As a climax, the novelist pays the philanderer the great compliment of listening to advice as to the best way of winning back his wife!

Betty Compson plays the charming young wife with fine artistry; Adolphe Menjou has and ideal part as the philanderer; Elliott Dexter plays the novelist and ZaSu Pitts is cast in the role of the social outcast. A typical de Mille ensemble supports the four featured players.

The picture will be shown beginning next Thursday at the Luna Lite Theatre for three days.

Who was the beautiful woman who smiled bravely while her stern-looking husband, clad in the uniform of an officer of high rank, slowly closed his fingers in vice-like grip over her bare arm?

Diners crowded the tables of a fashionable cafe in an European city who witnessed this little act of cruelty exhausted their imaginations in speculation concerning the identity of the pair. When the woman superb in a gown of black velvet, rose from the table, all eyes followed her as she swept from the room.

Pola plays the role of the wife, and Noah Berry that of the officer. The story which lies behind this little tragedy in the dining room is one of the most dramatic and fascinating which has ever been made into a motion picture film.

Heading the strong cast playing in support of the star are Ben Lyon, Berry and Raymond Griffith. Others are William J. Kelly and Jeanette Daudet. Paul Bern wrote the screen play.

COMMUNITY SOUL

Do Marion merchants give their patrons 100% values by comparison with Indianapolis and Chicago stores? The answer,, unequivocally and positively, is yes. Painstaking investigations conducted by competent authorities have established certain definite conclusions in merchandising. It has been demonstrated that the "cost of living" increases with the density of population. The expenditure per capita for food, clothing, dry goods and other necessities is appreciably greater in a city of 1,000,000 people than it is in a city of 25,000.

Merchants doing a business of $50,000 to $200,000 a year can and do compete on terms of price-quality with establishments having a million dollar turnover in the same environment. Overhead in the big city and in the big store mounts rapidly, and more than offsets the overestimated advantages of "volume" and purchasing. Actual price-reductions in the big city stores are, in most instances, confined to leaders, designated to stimulate the sale of profit-yielding merchandise. Day in and day out, running the whole gamut of staple merchandising, Marion retailers are meeting competition from the big city stores on a basis which makes it advantageous and economical for buyers within this zone to concentrate their purchases in this city.

Let us join with our Home Merchants in becoming Builders—builders of business, builders of good-will, builders of loyalty, builders of co-operation; in short, builders of "city pride"—a thing which is near kin to a community soul. And what can a community amount to without a soul? It is the soul that creates unity; it is the soul that begets fraternity. principle lies at the base of loyalty, and of all constructive community endeavor. Without it there can be

"BARGAIN"

Where is the "gain" in Bargain?

Bargain is one word of great deception. Its abuse in the merchandise world is growing. Bargain is looked upon as a decided favor in behalf of the purchaser. When an institution offers Bargains at all times, which means a low profit, if any, can they stay in Business?

The only gain in Bargain is where you get real value of dependable merchandise at a reasonable price. An unworthy article is no Bargain at any price.

THIS GREAT STORE OFFERS—

Real values in high grade, dependable merchandise at all times—Values unequalled by comparison of price and quality.

At times greater values or Real Bargains are offered, which is necessary in keeping with the seasons. But at no time will you find an inferior article offered to Create a Bargain.

The difference is the quality and workmanship—of which only the best finds entrance to these stocks.

Price is a secondary essential in buying anything—Quality is the main fundamental and is used so in purchasing most anything.

Take for instance—

Farm land, coal, butter, eggs, insurance, gasoline, autos, medicines, and building materials: also in maintaining thorough educational staffs, doctors, professional men in all walks of life, what is the first essential?

IT'S QUALITY, Thoroughness and Confidence—That's the keynote of all successful adventures.

None of these are Bargains at any price unless the quality—the thoroughness—of their uses are given.

Buying it in Marion

By the Shopper

Now that politics, campaign and election are over we can settle down and do business quietly for a few weeks awaiting the arrival af Thanksgiving.

We continue to be blessed with ideal Fall weather, although it is rather hard on the merchants, because we are not buying winter merchandise on days like these.

Shopping around the Square I notice that the stores are busy regardless of the warm weather. Buying is not brisk, but it remains steady.

The Observer Co., on South Side Square, has one of the best radio window displays in we have ever seen. They are showing the latest thing in radio receiving sets, and their display is striking and exceptionally pleasing to the eye.

The new Barbecue dining room of the White Dove Park, located one mile south of the Marion College on State Road 11, was formally opened to the public on Thursday night of last week. This is a very attractive, prettily decorated dining room and will prove popular, I am sure. Mighty good taste was shown by Mrs. Downs and Mrs. Creviston in arranging the decorations. Butlers installed an electric piano. Those who care to may dance. I predict that it will be quite a popular place this winter.

Johnny Bader, manager of the Radio Department at Butler's, is putting in some good talk boosting radio. Not only is he a radio fan and enthusiast, but an expert. If you don't happen to know what stations have the best programs, he can always tell you.

I notice that Hogin-McKinney Co. had an unusually attractive and striking sporting goods window. The fact of the matter is they always have attractive windows. And they never fail to have an interested crowd of spectators.

The United States Marine Band drew quite a crowd afternoon and evening at the Civic Hall last Saturday. It is needless to say that everyone who heard their concert was pleased.

And speaking of concerts, the Butler Music Co. staged one of their famous Edison Tone-Tests at the Civic Hall, on Wednesday evening. It was a joint recital by those popular record makers, Arthur Collin and Byron Harlan.

I see that my good friend Charlie Beshore is backing up his advertising in the Marion Theatre News by a window display. He has a very attractive window featuring the Griswold Tite-Top Dutch Oven, which he is advertising in this publication.

Peterson's Tea and Coffee House on South Washington Street have livened up their windows quite a bit recently and have a rather unique display of coffee, tea and groceries.

The new Spencer Hotel is really attractive. It's an institution that all Marion should be justly proud of. Had a trip through it the other day—just couldn't wait for the opening. To say that I was surprised and amazed is putting it mildly. Don't forget to tell all of your out-of-town friends when coming to Marion that we have a real place for them to stop. I wonder when they're going to have the official public opening?

I was out with the rest of the crowd Hallowe'en night. The streets were packed as usual, but this year there was no boistrousness. The crowd was happy, yet "sane." I heard of no devilishness.

There has been plenty of excitement around the public square this week. You can imagine what I mean when you think that there's three fire sales in progress now. If there's anything that excites a woman it's a fire sale.

My congratulations go to George Bell, newly elected president of the Marion Association of Commerce. George is a live wire and should put over a very successful program for the coming year.

There's a New Note in the Hats for Fall

The hats for Fall are more pleasing in style than they have been for many seasons. Quite English in effect: a flat, well rolled brim, a sturdy shape, not too high. They go particularly well with the looser suits worn so much today

Much of the effect of a man's clothes depends on a nice harmony of the suit, the hat and the shoes. It's a good idea, when you're outfitting for Fall, to consider all three at the same time. Our particular pleasure is to aid you in such a harmonious selection.

If you are really seeking the right effect in ready-to-wear clothes, in our candid opinion Society Brand is by far your best bet. We don't say that because we carry them. We carry them because it's true.

"RUDY" IS MOBBED WHENE'ER SEEN IN PARIS

Paris, Nov. 5—The Hudnut Chateau in Nice, where Rudolph Valentino and his wife are spending most of their time on the continent, has been the scene of many quiet dinners. The Sheik and Mme. Sheik are living a tame life, when reckoned with the pace set by the usual American visitor.

"Rudy" hardly dares leave Nice for Paris. Once the rumor spreads the sheik is in town, thousands swarm to see him. There are near riots. The girls go wild over him. But the sheik does not get all the glory. Mrs. Valentino rivals him. Hundreds waited in a drizzle to see her leave the Ritz on one of her frequent trips to Paris.

POLA'S LATEST PICTURE SAID TO BE HER BEST

Critics who have seen Pola Negri's latest staring picture for Paramount, "Lily of the Dust," declare it is like the steeple of a cathedral, the crowning ornament of many years of careful building.

The star's new vehicle is at once the most dramatic and most entertaining of all the pictures in which she has appeared. Deals with the struggles of a girl with the world, but it is not a story of generalizations. Three men only are involved and each of these three influence the girl for good or evil.

While the background to the four important figures of the drama is a colorful weave of European life with its vices, its virtues, its infinite variety, the chief characters in themselves stand out with the vivid strength of silhouettes.

In the cast chosen to support Pola Negri in "Lily of the Dust" are figures which have stood for genuine achievement on both screen

The Best Place to Shop After All

Buying it in Marion

By the Shopper

One difference between a man and a woman is in the way they shop. A man sees a hat and will go and buy it; a woman seeing a hat will go by it twenty times, and then buy something different.

There's trouble and worry enough when a woman goes shopping for her own hat. But it's only a starter for what happens when she takes her husband out to select his headgear, explains Seymour Marks. If he ever had any ideas when he left home, he loses them in the clothing store, while his wife whirls him around in front of the mirror, and tells him "how awful" they look. To the average man a hat's a hat, but to a woman its a label. She never looks prouder than when she leads out of a clothing store her husband, wearing on his head the choice of herself and an obliging clerk.

This probably explains why many old hats are being worn by the men folks. And they shouldn't do it with all the nifty new lids on display in the shop windows.

Price Clothing Company have an attractive display of $35.00 suits for men. Looks as if a man might get a real striking outfit without paying an exorbitant price.

It did me a world of good to learn that Mrs. C. G. Barley had given the city a $15,000 memorial to her husband. We hope that this comes in the form of a park, because we can't have too many parks. There should be a good park located in the south end of our city.

The men are coming into their own again. The Church Brotherhoods are in progress. I don't believe Church Brotherhoods are as popular anywhere else as they are here in Marion and I wonder if it isn't because Marion women are such good cooks.

When are they going to open the new comfort stations in the Court House yard? It seems that now is the opportune time to open them, for this is the time the farmers are doing their Fall and Winter shopping.

I see that our friends, "Chris and Sam," the new owners of the Chocolate Shop, have just had Charles Garthwaite paint a very attractive sign on the wall of their store.

It will soon be time to give real serious thought to coal. Baum & Wright have on display in front of their office one of the largest pieces of coal I have ever seen. Mr. Wright tells me that this one piece of coal weighs 490 pounds. He has several other large pieces on display, but this one "takes the cake."

Mrs. White, who was associated with the Seibrecht Floral Co. for two or three years, is now the "big boss," because she and her husband own the flower shop which was formerly Siebrecht's. It is now known as the "White's Flower Shop." We wish them success.

M. D. Arnold, proprietor of the Arnold Typewriter Exchange, has certainly "dolled" his shop up in tip-top shape. He followed the suggestion in this column by wielding the paint brush freely and has a mighty good looking place of business.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

Valentino Back in "A Sainted Devil," Paramount Screen Version of Rex Beach Story, "Rope's End"

First it was Valentino in Booth Tarkington's "Monsieur Beaucaire." Now it's Rex Beach's "A Sainted Devil," adapted from the author's magazine serial, "Rope's End," by Forrest Halsey.

The same production staff that made "Monsieur Beaucaire" made this one —and made it even better than Valentino's previous production, which marked his return to the screen after an absence of two years.

"A Sainted Devil" is a romance of South America—a story of Don Alonzo Castro (Valentino) and Julietta, his convent trained wife, played by Helen D'Algy, who is stolen from him by bandits at the outset of the production, on their wedding night.

The star has the role of a handsome young planter who becomes the terror of the neighborhood, making friends with none, always waiting for his "day when he will even up the score with the bandit who had deprived him of the one he loved best in the world.

It's a great story this—the best Valentino's production to date by far.

Nita Naldi, Louise Lagrange, Dagmar Godowsky, George Siegman and others play in support of the star.

You haven't seen Rudolph Valentino until you've seen "A Sainted Devil." It opens a four days' run next Sunday at the Luna Lite.

BACHELOR CLUB PLAY

"Daddies" is the story of a bachelor club whose members thought they could pay their debt to posterity by adopting war orphans. The adoption was an easy matter, but they soon found that wasn't half of it. And it wasn't long before "the hand that rocks the cradle" was rocking the bachelor club. The rocking process continues with side-splitting mirth until each and every member is shaken out into the lap of matrimony.

It is the screen version of David Belasco's famous stage play and opens at the Lyric Theatre Sunday to Wednesday.

ZANE GREY'S "BORDER LEGION" COMING HERE

The Zane Grey-Paramount production, "The Border Legion," with Antonio Moreno ond Helene Chadwick will be the feature at the Luna Lite Theatre for three days beginning Thursday next.

The story, directed by William Howard, was adapted to the screen by George Hull. It is a fast moving tale of the wild and wooly days when the West was young, a story of the old days when "The Border Legion," one of the most feared of all bandit gangs, terrorized the Southern Idaho border, plundering and killing in its search for gold.

Of all the Zane Grey stories, "The Border Legion" is one of the best.

Fashion

Fabric fashions as they are interpreted in recent openings of Paris collections and showings of import models here confirm style tendencies much talk of for spring.

Ribbed silks, for instance, are a dominating note.

Prints, which are being brought forward so strongly in some of the opening silk lines in this country, are mentioned as a striking trimming detail in one group.

Cashmere printed shawl patterns are cited as effective for novelty linings.

Leopard skin designs, hand painted on crepe de Chine, are among the interesting fancies.

A new kind of painting on textiles has recently been brought out in Vienna. It is called "Wiener Reliefmalerei," and it is said to resemble some new kind of embroidery and to resist even scratching and withstand washing.

Chinese document designs are used in new brocades.

Crepe satin with morocain back and silk Ottoman are emphasized fabrics for less formal wear. Red and black are cited as the favored color combinations.

Ottoman crepe satin and crepes faconnes in satiny crossbar effects. Discreet shading is employed in plaided silk serges which appear in new models. For evening wear, chiffons in light shades are featured.

Greens, bottle for daytime and the lighter shades for evening, are sponsored by this house. Tan maroon are also strongly approved for daytime wear.

Duvine features chiffon velvet and metal lace combinations and applications of velvet on chiffon.

Color, rather than black, continues to dominate at evening affairs. Pink was an outstanding shade at a recent opening.

Dull and shiny crepe in high shades was also a smart note.

Metal cloths are brought forward for the dressy hat.

Velvets and rich metal lames are seen side by side with chiffons and georgettes. Clear wine reds and various blues seem to be the favorite of the moment.

Because these are coats of the luxurious class it does not signify any limitation in adaptibility, for the new coats, so slimly and youthfully charming, are designed with the simplicity that permits their use for shopping, motoring, for afternoon and evening or even for sports wear. The new furs that blend so smartly with the color scheme are used in innumerable ways to enrich the supple, suede-like fabrics from which these important Fall models are created.

Modish colors such as:

The finely matched and dyed pelts used are:

Many ensembles are displayed with bolero jackets and short paletots included as well as the long straight coat.

Much black and navy are evident, relieved by vestees and other light touches of white ottoman, pique or starched organdie.

Printed fabrics are conspicuous, chosen for evening frocks in crepes for day types. The latter are sometimes employed to develop coats over frocks of a plain color to blend with the print.

SPORT GOSSIP

Although basketball is breaking loose all over the State, and Grant County teams are right in the midst of it, there is still a large amount of interest in the last regularly scheduled football game for Marion—the one with Wabash at Wabash this Saturday.

At Wabash, they are planning a big "home-coming," a regular holiday celebration. Wabash is probably the best football team in the Wabash Valley conference, made up of a number of high school football teams. The fans there are boosting for their boys to beat this dangerous opponent, Marion.

The gossip this week seriously threatens to evade and elude the remaining football games throughout the State and county. Fans are watching the work of high school and independent basketball teams everywhere. In Marion the Peoples' Life quintet has been organized and will play the Indianapolis Em-Roes during November.

Vaughn Bragg, one of the most widly known independent players in this part of the State, has been added to the line-up of the Peoples' Life shooters.

High School officials have scheduled a post-season football game with the best little team in the State—Wilkinson. It is understood that the receipts from this game will go toward purchasing the uniforms for the high school band.

Peterson is the leading basketball player at Sweetser. He shot three field goals in the last five minutes of the game with Lafontaine at Sweetser last Friday, and won the contest.

Gas City is the talk of the county in early season basketball. The team there has more fight than is ordinarily exhibited by a high school team that size and is in fray until the last second.

Of the Marion High School men now practicing basketball, Overman and Smith are showing up best as forwards, "Long John" Murphy at center, and Bradford and Wright, guards.

Coach Clifford Prebble is in charge of the team until after the Wabash football game, when Coach Thomas will take over the reigns.

Richmond should have a good football team next year. Reeg, the backfield star, is a Junior this year, and will be back in school next year. Brown, captain and center, is another man who will be back on the team next season.

Brown was one of the best and most consistent punters that have been seen on Memorial Field.

Coach Harold Little, of Richmond, the man who turns out those good basketball teams, characterized Barley as one of the hardest hitting, best all-around high school football players he had seen.

Eddie Coligny, Marion halfback whose foot was injured last week, blood poison resulting, is much better. He was able to be brought from the hospital to the Richmond game.

The early season basketball game which was to have been played with Jonesboro this Friday, has been postponed indefinitely, according to Coach Thomas.

YE EDITOR SAYS

LAUGH

The diaphragm beats a tattoo on the stomach when you laugh. Every time you let go a hearty laugh this diaphragm pops up and down on your liver, and helps to drive away the very thing that gives you the blues—biliousness.

Laughter is the best brand of pills on earth. Laughter strikes in when it comes from without, and instantly comes to the surface when it starts from within.

Laughter penetrates.

You may laugh because you are happy, and you may be happy because you laugh. It is the one thing where the cause is the effect and the effect the cause. Any man can be a millionaire of good cheer.

THOSE WHITE STOP LINES

Just to remind Marion motorists that White Stop lines means just that—STOP.

Periodically the newspapers and the police bring the stop line matter to the attention of the motorist, but still there are many who ignore the ordinance. Particularly is this true in the outlying districts, where the speed of the driver on the through street is likely to be greater than in the downtown section.

Too many drivers who would feel offended if referred to as other than law-abiding citizens stop only where they feel there might be danger of being caught by the police.

Failure to observe the stop lines is law-breaking, just as much as assault. The result of failure to stop at the white lines may be much more serious than the assault.

Officers can't be everywhere. Yet the stop ordinance must be respected. Law enforcement, in the final analysis, is to be found in the heart of the citizen. Every man is obligated by his membership in society to obey the laws, from the simplest on up. Here is something for the stop-law violator to think about.

RECREATION, RELAXATION AND EDUCATION

It hardly seems possible that one could get all this in a perfect unit—simultaneously; and yet Thomas A. Edison's invention, the cinematograph, with its subsequent developments make this a matter of practical simplicity. Much has been said, written and substantiated about the educational side of the photoplay. That a visit to the theatre recreates and refreshes is also undisputable; but another singular claim belongs to the screen—that, while recreation takes its course, the physical organism of the body is almost entirely relaxing, especially when one chooses an up-to-date, comfortable play house. With perhaps one or two exceptions—the want for sleep or a possible long walk to and from the theatre, it is stupid to say, "I was too tired to go to the show last night." Whenever we feel tired and fatigued, we go to see a picture and rest and at the same time get some enjoyment which is hardly possible any other way.

THOMAS MEIGHAN EXPLAINS THAT THE "G" IS SILENT

Folks, meet Thomas Meighan!

No, not Meegan—Meighan. The G is silent. In fact it is useless and unnecessary.

THOMAS MEIGHAN

About 12 per cent of all the people introduced to the famous motion picture star mispronounce his name. They insist on putting in the G at its face value. That worries Tom. He has to stop and explain that the G is excess baggage, orthographically speaking, and is carried along out of deference to old Gaelic traditions.

Meighan is an Irish name. In fact it is one of the most Irish of names, hence anti-phonetic G.

Tom had very little to say in choosing the name originally. It was, in fact, thrust upon him. But he told some of his friends the other day that he was very anxious that it be pronounced with the true Irish twang.

Ernest Torrence is to play the villainous Captain Hook in Paramount screen version of "Peter Pan," which Herbert Brenon will direct and in which Betty Bronson will play the title roll. Mr. Torrence looks the part of Captain Hook even without a make-up and his attitude toward the Barrie fantasy is, therefore, the more amazing. He has studied the play not only with the mind of a student but with the heart of a man who loves it.

Charlie Chaplin is a type, not a personality and has no exclusive right to his name, big shoes, or queer gait, so a German court decided in the recent trial of the "German Charlie Chaplin," who was brought before the judge on charges of fraud, because he reaped a considerable profit in German cities by appearing as "Charlie Chaplin," and using his famous make-up and costume. The lawyer for the defence stated that the German Chaplain was funnier than the American Chaplin, that the American's name is assumed, and that he has no patent on name, costume, or tricks. The court acquitted the German comedian, whose real name is Groeber, and his managers.

May McAvoy and the Madison Productions do not agree as to how much salary she should receive for her work in the picture "Tarnish." WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19th

The most interesting topic of conversation in Hollywood recently is the signing of the contract for the distribution of Harold Lloyd and Rudolph Valentino pictures through the Famous Players-Lasky organization.

Paramount has rarely distributed films other than those of their own producing organization, and it is thought that this move will bring them into more direct competition with First National and other organizations which have heretofore specialized in distribution.

It was rumored that Lloyd, upon the expiration of his Pathe contract, which requires one more production from him, might join the United Artists. The present deal definitely places him as a star on the Paramount program, although he will continue to make his pictures as an independent producer.

Valentino has just finished two pictures under a producing contract with Famous Players-Lasky. It was surmised that his pictures for Ritz-Carlton, with whom he now begins his contract, would be distributed through First National, but the deal puts an end to this assumption.

As a result of the completion of "Forbidden Paradise," her latest starring picture for Paramount, Pola Negri is taking a short vacation. When she returns to the studio she will immediately begin work in "East of Suez."

Agnes Ayres is to be starred next season by Producers' Distributing Corporation. When she has completed the remaining two pictures for which she is under contract to Paramount Miss Ayres will begin on a series of four features for Producers'.

Conway Tearle has signed up with the newly formed St. Regis Pictures Corporation to star in their initial production. The picture is an adaptation of J. C. Brownett's "The Ultimate Good."

That was at Wabash last Friday. This Friday the game with Wilkinson, for the benefit of the high school band, will be played at Memorial Field. The band is to have new uniforms and some mighty bright and snappy designs have been considered.

After the Wilkinson game, the spotlight turns unreservedly upon basketball. With the other teams in the state and county having swung into action, fans over the state are wondering what Marion will have. The state newspapers are among the curious. The Vincennes Sun, in an article last week, inquired whether or not Marion was doing anything.

The Sun writer should watch Assistant Coach Pribble and his basketball candidates work out at the high school gym. Coach Thomas will have charge of the squad, and, after the Wilkinson game, the regular M. H. S. basket shooters will go into training for basketball.

Of the football squad, some of the men counted upon to show up well in basketball are Boykin, Daniels, Barley, Wilkes, Polley, Chapman, Thomas and others.

A new bowling league will be organized in the city with the Spencer Hotel Recreational Parlors as the headquarters for the league. Four teams, each composed of five men, will make up the league.

The flood of independent basketball team organizations is beginning to pour in. Chief among the teams in Marion is the Peoples Life quintet, which has a number of former Wonder Five stars. The Marion Maroons have also been organized.

The final date for the filing of applications for sectional basketball tournaments in the State has passed and Marion did not ask for a tourney. Many of the larger schools in the State could not accept a tournament under the present ruling of the State Athletic Board, which provisioned that schools holding tournaments may have only $200 of the receipts. Most of the schools tourney taxes were more burdensome than that amount of money.

"UNSEEN HANDS"

"Unseen Hands," an unusual, gripping and thrilling story of love, romance and adventure, with Wallace Beery as the star, is the picture card at the Luna Lite Theatre. This film was adapted from an original story by Walker Coleman Graves, Jr. It tells the fear that a man has of a past that haunts him day and night and night and finally brings him to justice. In the case also appear Joseph Dowling, Fontaine LaRue, Cleo Madison, Jack Rollins and Jamie Grey. The locale takes in the picturesque northern border of France and the wilds of Arizona in the United States.

"BABBITT"

George F. Babbitt created a great deal of interest in Hollywood.

When "Babbitt," a Warner Brothers Classic of the Screen, directed by Harry Beaumont, was nearing completion it was necessary to use a nearby real estate subdivision for "Babbittville," George F. Babbitt's real estate tract.

Bright colored flags were taken out there and signs were painted telling of the advantages of purchasing in "Babbittville." While the studio artists were at work on the sign they noticed two men approaching from another real estate office just across the street.

They watched awhile, read of Babbittville, and then finally asked one of the artists:

"Say, fellows, who is this George F. Babbitt, anyway? We've been around here quite a while and we never heard of him!"

"Babbitt," with a cast headed by Willard Louis, will play at the Lyric Theatre beginning Sunday.

GRIFFITH'S "AMERICA" SEASON'S BIG FILM FEATURE AT INDIANA

"America," D. W. Griffith's latest and one of the most stupendous screen productions, will be the feature at the Indiana all next week. It is a particularly patriotic picture, as the title implies, and has peculiar appeal, because many of the historic scenes were taken in Yorktown and around that spot and on the James River.

President Coolidge is not a theatregoer. Even in the days when he was Governor of Massachusetts, he oocupied a modest room at the Adams House in the heart of Boston's theatre section, he was seldom seen at a playhouse. But there is one motion picture in which he is interested and that is Griffith's big romantic film of the American revolution.

Newspaper correspondents at the White House relate that not only did President Coolidge confer with Griffith about the making of "America," but that the austere and silent Chief Executive asked the producer for a number of still pictures of scenes from "America," to show the home folks up in Vermont. Which betokens an unprecedented enthusiasm on the part of the President where motion pictures are concerned.

When one learns, however, that "America" was filmed under the guidance of a special corps of research experts and historians, including representatives of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Sons of the American Revolution, The Lexington Historical Society, and similar organizations; that Secretary of War Weeks assisted by turning over various regular army units, who appear in costume in the massive battle scenes; and that Griffith used historic houses, actual battle grounds and the shrines of American liberty for the scenes descendants of the leading families of Revolutionary Days as extra people, and drums, pistols, flintlocks, and even uniforms which saw service in the War of Independence as properties, the interest of even the President became understandable.

Smashes All Precedents

And even had the subject and the unusual manner of making the film failed to make the average citizen enthusiastic, the fact that Griffith has broken all precedents by extending to every man, women and child an invitation to come and see the more massive scenes made, would give the general public a more personal interest in "America" than in any film production ever made in this country.

For the public took Griffith at his word and turned over to the extent of more than 15,000 a day during the weeks the producer, his players, and United States regulars camped at Somers, New York, "shooting" battle scenes.

The story "America," written by Robert W. Chambers, the novelist, whose earlier books dealt with the Revolutionary period, and who is regarded in literary circles as an expert in the history of those days, is the story of the struggle of the colonies for liberty, from Paul Revere's ride until George Washington became President.

All of the dramatic incidents of the war, and its major battles figure in the film. Griffith establishes a special research bureau to settle the mooted points of American history.

SHOPPING AT BLUMENTHAL'S

Thanksgiving is coming and so is Christmas. There is much shopping to be done for both. Not the least of them is the round of gaieties that call for new apparel, new things for the home and what not. One finds solution to all shopping problems at this store. With our many years of experience and recognition for giving the very best values, you can place implicit confidence in our suggestions.

Before starting on your shopping tour always read the Marion Theatre News. It will tell you where to go and show where you can save money. Your dollars always go further when shopping according to the Marion Theatre News advertisements.

Ex-Mah Jong fans who are getting the "bug" are beginning to realize that Ring Lander didn't exaggerate much when he pictured a cross-word puzzle fan refusing to leave a burning building until he had discovered a vegetable of nine letters beginning with A.

"I can hardly get my husband to the dinner table at night," says one Marion woman. "And then when he finally does come he goes on solving the cross-word puzzle between bites."

I see that Charles B. Rhoads has moved down town and is now located in the old Baker-Morris garage at 104 South Washington Street. Glad to have you down town, Charlie.

The Rex Shoe Repair shop, across from the post office has installed a new shoe shining stand, which promises to become very popular, due to its splendid location.

The Boston Store is displaying the largest pumpkins that are grown around Marion.

"Blumenthal Day" was a distinct success—and why shouldn't it be? Everything that this popular store undertakes goes over in a big way.

George Gant is displaying a Frigidaire Ice Making plant in his window. This little plant makes ice before your your eyes. They are rapidly getting time and labor saving devices for the home, as well as the office.

The Paris has an unusually striking display of new fur trimmed coats in the popular cranberry shade. I think cranberry coats are just lovely.

Took a hurried trip through the Modern Laundry the other day and I must admit that it's much cleaner than the average home in Marion. They are certainly "sanitary fiends" down there.

"Service with a smile" is not fiction, but facts, as exemplified by Dahl Stricler in Hogin-McKinney's. At least that's my opinion because I went in there last week and purchased a carving knife.

Ed Marquis is certainly driving a "spiffy" looking Hudson. It's the best looking job that they have put out for a long time.

Show windows are the reflection of the business institution, a prominent man once said, or words to that effect. That bird must have seen Kelley's displays for they are always unusually attractive.

Fashion

The slimmer and flatter you are, the more popular will you be for new winter fashions retreat not an inch from the straight and narrow.

The brevity of the skirt is the measure of smartness, for daytime and evening.

The ensemble suit continues to be the most important feature in the winter mode, combining extreme smartness with economy, for it is really "two-in-one."

The coat dress continues on its tailored way, and the newest one places her buttons down her back.

If you would be smart wear your very widest belt. If you would be "the last word," carry a flat envelope purse to match.

Hem lines are torn between following the "straight and narrow"—and frivolously falling into scallops, tabs and fringes.

The old melon shape sleeve is now the thing, only the "melon" now rests between the wrist and elbow.

Now that one is permitted to button one's coat instead of clutching it about one, hands are free to carry a small muff. The smaller, the smarter.

Leopard and fox are two of the smartest trims.

"HER LOVE STORY"

"Her Love Story," starring Gloria Swanson, opens at the Luna Lite Theatre next Sunday. The story is based upon Mary Roberts Rinehart's novel, "Her Majesty, the Queen." The editor of the Cosmopolitan magazine, in which publication this story appeared, said of it: "Her Majesty, the Queen" is the greatest dramatic story that has come into my hands in the past three years. It should make a great picture."

There seems to be about twenty outstanding photoplays made from September 1, 1923, to November 1, 1924. Among the twenty are: "A Woman of Paris," "The Thief of Bagdad," "The Ten Commandments," "Monsieur Beaucaire," Beau Brummel," "The Sea Hawk," "Scaramouche," "The Marriage Circle," "The Side Show of Life," "Secrets," "The Enchanted Cottage." "The Courtship of Miles Standish," "Little Old New York," "The White Sister," "America," "Dorothy Vernon of Hadden Hall," "The Covered Wagon," "Merry-Go-Round," "Manhandled."

THANKSGIVING

Got anything to be thankful for this year? Are you as well as last November or better? If not, whose fault is it? Are you going to make business better by kicking or grumbling or making the other fellow blue? Is worry, helping you any? Thanksgiving may well serve as a universal day of atonement, a day on which to make amends; resolutions; restitution. And if you think you have nothing to feel grateful for, look around and see the other fellow. There's nothing so bad that it mightn't be worse. Cheer up!

It's a problem during the week and an utter impossibility on a Saturday night. Try and find a place to park after 6:30. And it's getting tougher and tougher. We recommend that if the newly organized Marion Auto Club must do some constructive work to seriously consider the situation and make Marion a better place to shop in, rather than a city that has no parking provisions.

Warner Baxter and Betty Compson seem to be becoming another of those "teams" so popular with theatre-goers. Baxter appeared with Miss Compson in "The Female" and has been signed for a featured role in her support in "The Garden of Weeds," the new James Cruze production for Paramount.

After watching the successful start of his first starring picture for Paramount, "Manhattan," at the Rivoli Theatre, New York, Richard Dix left for California for a business trip which will last two weeks. When he returns he will begin work on "The Maker of Gestures."

Carl Laemmle has signed Georgie Grandee, known on the vaudeville stage as Georgie Coan, to a long time contract. The protege of William Desmond, who appears in Desmond's latest picture, "The Meddler," has made a very fine impression on the Universal City production force.

In recognition of her splendid work in Zane Grey's "Code of the West," now nearing completion, Constance Bennett has been signed on a long term contract by Paramount.

For the first time since she came to America, the star consented to wear her own wonderful collection of jewels for motion picture purposes.

The Christie organization is demonstrating its versatility these days by turning from the slapstick variety of hokum comedy to the dressed up situation farce in the second of the Al Christie features, "Reckless Romance" which is now well under way under Scott Sidney's direction.

The first Christie feature, "Hold Your Breath," was practically straight comedy, with a few thrills thrown in for good measure, now the comedy is being provided along the lines of pure farce with some expert farceurs playing the roles, and Scott Sidney and his are out to prove that farce can be just as screamingly funny as slapstick.

The complete cast now includes Harry Myers, Jack Duffy, T. Roy Barnes, Wanda Hawley, Sylvia Breamer, Tully Marshall, Morgan Wallace, Lincoln Plumer, Mitchell Lewis, Hugh Metcalf and George French.

Allan Dwan, Paramount producer, left for Europe last week to resume directing Gloria Swanson. Joe Albright, display manager of Blumenthals, certainly stepped along some this week. I think he changed each of their windows about every day. Every time I looked at them he had in a different display, each one particularly striking and attractive.

And speaking of good window displays, Butler's have an unusually good looking window trim of the Brunswick Radiola.

I'm wondering who's going to occupy the other store rooms in the new Spencer Hotel.

And when is the New Spencer Hotel going to be officially opened for the public? I know we are all just dying to see it.

The window displays around the Square are beginning to show the Christmas spirit. And I might add, don't wait, but do your Christmas shopping early.

Fred Eward tells me that he cannot understand why people don't eat as much Banquet Ice Cream in the winter as in the summer. Says he makes it just as good during the cold days as during the hot, and people should just naturally educate themselves too eat more ice cream in winter.

This looks like it's going to be a real Radio Christmas. There is no doubt but what there will be more Radios sold in Marion this Christmas than ever before. Quite a few are being advertised in the Marion Theatre News.

REMOVING THE CREPE

Are you one of those who lack faith in your home city? Do you think it is standing still, that it is not growing commercially, intellectually; that its population and wealth are not increasing, that local business conditions are not promising If you are one of these, you are shouting up the wrong rain spout.

Better go out and look the town over yourself. See the many new homes going up, the remodeling that is being done, count the shining new cars on the streets, talk to bankers who know the trend of Marion's finance and commerce. Then go home and break the handle on the hammer, remove the crepe from its hanging place, and dust off the old bugle and blow it for all it's worth.

THOUGHTLESS PATRONS

Chatter away during a performance at the theatre in such a manner as to distract the spectator's attention. To enjoy a motion picture, and the music that accompanies it, a person must concentrate with the same degree of intensity that they would give a good book. Talking during a motion-picture performance is, in our belief, not only a show of bad taste, but also unfairness, and we think there would be less of it if people would only stop to consider their neighbors. Do unto others as ye would be done by!

Around the legend of the magic carpet there has been always a mysterious glamor, a glamor of adventure, for are we not told it took its people to many lands, in many climes, in fractions of time.

To travel, to adventure into unknown parts of the world, that is something that most all of us, have dreamed for, though we know it can never become a reality.

But today the motion picture, in a single evening, takes one on fascina-

PICTURE PARTIES

Picture parties are in vogue. Each week the manager of the Marion theatres reserves blocks of seats for more hostesses who find the press of social obligations most satisfactorily coped with in this manner. Many invite their guests directly to the theatre, the party adjourning to refreshment places in a body when the performance is completed.

The management is able at all times to suggest dates of specially suitable entertainment for party purposes.

At recent outdoor events red fox and light furs generally were conspicuous, on black, green, red and beige cloth coats.

A beige kasha suit with yellow flannel tunic lined with matching yellow, there being also a yellow lined kasha scarf collar, the wearer topping this with a red fox fur.

Brown suede and kid footwear with cinnamon and a wide range of beige stockings are the order of the day.

An interesting Tyrolean hat was noted, this being a typical hunter's green velour.

Frame, and lock and key bags are being favored by many women in preference to under the arm effects.

Self-trimmed felts continue to match the topcoats with which they are worn.

Flat patent leather and oil cloth boutonieres in lacquer red or ochre, are frequently worn—so are natural flowers especially orchid.

A black suede-like material formed a coat, the back simulating a tunic effect with a band of red fox placed as far as the side seams, on the collars and cuffs.

A black coat, embroidered in elaborate all over design, included squirrel on balloon sleeve and collar.

Other frocks in white beaded crepe satin were made with godet sides. One of these had two godets on each side, made of finely pleated chiffon, also in white.

A young girl wore lemon yellow satin made with bateau neck, dropped shoulder straps and long waist-line, without any odornment whatever, either in trimming or jewelry.

Evening wraps of horizontal stripes in daring color blendings, showed all over embroidery in very fine traced design, resembling Spanish shawl embroidery.

Gold and silver slippers in plain kid and in pumps, without adornment are, without doubt, the main feature of the season in vening footwear.

Purple felt hats were also important because unaccounted for by any sentimental significance. There were also many black hats, several of them being hatter's plush.

The plaid lined, plain cloth topcoat was also smartly sponsored.

Many black velvet evening wraps are collared and cuffed in white fox, one example was lined in white lamb.

THE DINNER COAT

TODAY the dinner coat is the evening dress, and is correct for all except the most formal occasions. You will often see a white washable waistcoat worn with the dinner coat, and this is quite proper. We have outfitted with white waistcoats a number of men who come here; they prefer this because the effect is more formal. A black waistcoat of the same material as the coat, however, is entirely correct.

The cut of the dinner coat has been greatly influenced by the prevailing tendency toward the loose-fitting style. This easy effect in the dinner coat is beautifully shown in the Society Brand models.

"FOOLS HIGHWAY"

Kate Price, who is so Irish that she can draw money for just being herself in front of the camera, although she throws in a lot of fine acting for good measure, handles one of the principal roles in Mary Philbin's first big starring vehicle since "Merry-Go-Round." This is "Fools Highway," sensational story of the Bowery, adapted from Owen Kildare's famous life story "My Mamie Rose." The Universal-Jewel comes to the Lyric Theatre commencing Sunday. Pat O'Malley, Edwin J. Brady, William Collier, Jr., Max Davidson, and other well known players appear in the big cast.

"SINNERS IN HEAVEN," WITH SUPERLATIVE CAST

The title of the new Paramount picture, "Sinners in Heaven," which is coming to the Luna Lite Theatre for a four day run beginning next Sunday has a distinctly paradoxical sound. It is safe to assume that the picture satisfactorily explains and justifies the title.

To those, however, who have read the story by Clive Arden from which the picture was adapted by James Creelman and produced by Alan Crosland, the title has an especial significance and it is certain that they will approve its retention in the screen play.

"Sinners in Heaven" tells the story of a man and a girl who are through fate wrecked on a tropical island off the coast of Africa. Try to imagine what would happen if you found yourself stranded in some remote corner of the earth, apparently a million miles from any sign of civilization, and your only companion was a person whom you cordially disliked! This is the situation that confronts Barbara Stockly, the heroine; and you can readily understand the dynamic possibilities for rich drama when we tell you that the girl eventually falls in love with the man and marries him, there, in the heart of the African desert! How the marriage is performed and what happens after that, we will let you discover for yourself.

With a combination of such box office favorites as Bebe Daniels and Richard Dix, who portray the two leading roles, surrounded, by such likeable and well known players as Holmes Herbert, Montague Love, Florence Billings, Effie Shannon, Betty Hilburn and Marcia Harris, the only fair thing to do is designate it as an all-star cast.

Make a note of the play date if you want to be amongst those present when "Sinners in Heaven" comes to town!

"A WOMAN WHO SINNED"

"A Woman Who Sinned," the F.B.O. photoplay that comes to the Lyric Theatre Thursday, is one of the most successful big theme pictures ever presented the public and furnishes evidence of the dynamic power behind the vision of Finis Fox, writer, director and producer of the story.

"A Woman Who Sinned" is a powerful visualization of the fact that "the man pays sometimes." The story is certain to "strike home" to the wayward man, as it carries a good moral without becoming "preachy."

The beautiful Mae Busch heads the cast which includes such well-known players as Irene Rich, Morgan Wallace, Rex Lease, Lucien Littlefield, Ethel Teare, Cissy Fitzgerald, Hugh Fay and Bobby Mack.

CITES EXAMPLE

The trend of producers right now, urged on by distributors who are recognizing more clearly every day this tendency on the part of the public, is toward the choice of famous stories that have registered the approval of readers and play-goers. Preferred Pictures, consequently, will release in the near future fifteen of the best known stories and stage plays available. The first of these is "The Broken Wing," which combines all the necessary elements for a first-class picture—humor, pathos and thrills—in addition to being one of the most popular plays ever staged on Broadway.

"The Broken Wing" is the current attraction at the Lyric Theatre. Screen favorites in the cast which will interest every fan include Kenneth Harlan, Miriam Cooper, Walter Long, Miss du Pont and Edwin J. Brady.

THE GOLD DIGGERS

Another Warner Brothers classic of the screen is scheduled to appear at the Lyric Theatre for four days starting Sunday. This is "The Gold Diggers," featuring Hope Hampton, an adaptation of the David Belasco stage play of the same name.

Contrary to its literal meaning, "gold diggers" are not the people enengaged in searching the depths of the earth for the precious metal, but as shown in this picture, they are beautiful young women, whose profession is dancing and acting, but who spend their spare time "digging" for gold in the form of entertainment, jewels, clothing and money; and these incidentals they get from business men who seek diversion from the worry and stress of business.

comes to the Luna Lite this week, a most enjoyable production. Pathos at its best is shown in the struggle of the girl to make a success of a man's job; pep just dominates the entire picture with its breezy star, its exciting automobile race and the sequence showing an army tank ploughing through an arsenal wall; and politics wherein Johnny does a bit of original electioneering to elect his sweetheart's father to the sheriff's office. The triumvirate of pathos, pep and politics makes the "The Speed Spook" the best feature melocomedy Johnny Hines has made to date.

NEW MEIGHAN PICTURE AT LUNA LITE SUNDAY

"The Alaskan," James Oliver Curwood's stirring novel of the far north, which Willis Goldbeck adapted to the screen, forms the basis of Thomas Meighan's brand new starring picture. This widely heralded film will be the main feature at the Luna Lite Theatre beginning Sunday.

As a story for Meighan, it is undoubtedly the strongest in which this favorite screen star has ever appeared. Herbert Brennon, who produced the picture for paramount, made a very careful selection of the supporting cast. Estelle Taylor, John Sainpolis, Charles Ogle, Frank Campeau, and Anna May Wong are featured in Meighan's support.

"The Alaskan" is a tale of the new empire which has come into being in the far north during the last thirty years. It opens with the great gold rush which followed the discovery of the yellow metal in Alaska.

YE EDITOR SAYS

"The Midnight Frolics of 1924" at the Indiana next Tuesday and Wednesday nights should have your wholehearted support.

When you have nothing else to do, drop into a Marion theatre. You'll enjoy the relaxation of an hour or so of entertainment.

Have you ever noticed how in every photoplay the person having occasion to use the phone always gets his number in just a second or so—and always the right number at that?

Somebody a while back said the radio would put motion picture theatres out of business, but at the rate they are building new million dollar houses it would seem the rumor was slightly exaggerated.

THEATRE SUPREMACY

The modern motion picture theatre is a mighty tribute to the screen entertainment form. The best theatres in the world are the motion picture theatres. The playhouses devoted to spoken drama, vaudeville, even opera, are dingy hall in comparison with the building housing the motion picture.

Perhaps there is no more graphic testimonial to the merit of the motion picture than this. Certainly there is none more evident.

LET'S GO!

Don't forget the "Midnight Frolics of 1924" at the Indiana Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday nights. It is for the benefit of the Community Christmas Tree Fund and deserves your whole hearted support.

It's a good show, comprising the city's best talent, and will be worth the cost of admission, and the proceeds will go to gladden the hearts of the unfortunate kiddies of this community on Christmas morn.

"Abraham Lincoln," one of the biggest pictures of the year, will be shown in Marion soon. It is worth waiting many days for.

Fashion

The newest sweater has a turtle neck, from whose little collar one's head emerges exactly as that of a snapping turtle, except that, assured of smartness, much more pleasantly.

High collars and jabots mark the smartest frocks. And the jabot is as smart as it is big.

Printed velvet, metal lace and ombre chiffon are most sought for evening. Of colors, white takes the lead, followed by pink, red and fuschia.

The use of the dull and shiny sides of satin in the same frock is continually noted.

The long slim tunic of Russian origin is accepted as a necessary part of every wardrobe.

Daily frocks grow tighter over the hips. A new evening silhoutte is achieved by drawing the fabric very tight over the back and hips, letting it out in a big flaring front—a style to be worn by the slim and graceful only.

The cuddly evening wrap is no more, having given way to an elaborate coat whose sleeves are very conspicuous.

The passion for artificial pearls continues, but those most sought after are pastel tinted.

Now that the smart Parisienne has decided to display her ears to all the world, earrings grow in importance. In fact, thay have grown in some cases into hugh golden balls.

He was a lonesome Romeo, walking around the square yesterday morning with a big overcoat wrapped around him and his hands deep in his pockets to keep out the nippy atmosphere—and with his sleek head bared to the breezes. Fair maids on their way to the office and shop glanced at him curiously and men who passed him stared. But he walked on, unconcerned, just as if he didn't know that people who don't wear hats get colds in the head. Did Fido chew up his new John W. Stetson out in the alley or has he heard that Rudolph Valentino wears his that way? We suppose we are doomed to always wonder.

We saw something else the other day that has never been explained. "It" was a perfectly sane and respectable looking lady going into a store with a winter coat on and a pair of white trousers underneath. Still—she may have been a lady paperhanger coming back to town for more paper to finish a job.

Butler's have a very striking Gulbransen Piano window. The background is an unusually large reproduction of a piano with a very striking and realistic looking lady standing by it. It's a particularly pleasing display.

Beshores have an inviting gift booth displaying desirable and appropriate aluminum ware, pyrex and other gifts suitable for the kitchen. We predict that this will be a very popular place before the holidays.

See that Klaus Auto Service have installed the famous Duco system and am sure that many Marion motorists will avail themselves of the opportunity of having their car finished in Duco. It seems to be a sensible, practical and lasting finish.

Christmas Bells and Christmas Bills

Did you ever have the feeling that you spent more for Christmas presents than you really should have spent?

Wasn't this feeling largely due to the fact that Christmas expenses come out of the family income in one lump?

The man or woman who saves for Christmas in our saves in advance by easy installments and has money in the bank to meet the Christmas bills.

You will enjoy the Christmas bells more if you do not have to worry about the Christmas bills!

We pay 4% interest on Christmas Club accounts. You deposit a certain amount each week—25c, 50c, $1.00, $2.00 or $5.00.

MEYER'S BUDGET PLAN

Dignifies the Credit System of Buying FINE JEWELRY

It is the purpose of MEYER'S to always be of the greatest possible service to patrons. An important factor in service today is the accommodation of patrons who seek the convenience of deferred payments on their purchases.

While MEYER'S does not desire that this store shall be known as an installment house—yet the popular demand for a convenient payment plan has been fully and appropriately met by the MEYER'S BUDGET PLAN.

This is, in actual application, a dignified method of "convenient credit." Under this plan, you may select such merchandise as you desire from the extensive MEYER stock—pay only 25 per cent of the regular cash price at the time of your purchase and spread the balance over six convenient monthly payments; or you may divide the balance into twelve semi-monthly payments, if you so prefer. Either plan gives you six months in which to complete your payment. In no case are the MEYER "always low" prices advanced to provide for the operation of the Budget Plan—nor is any interest charge added.

We want you to feel free to avail yourself, at all times, of this convenient payment plan. Simply state when you make your purchase that you wish to take advantage of the Budget Plan and your purchase will be arranged accordingly.

A substantial gift—best of all, not merely money spent—but invested. The cost of operation very low, the percentage of resale value very high—what better, more desired and yet more practical gift can you make them? If you want to make this a CHRISTMAS long to be remembered in your family, one on which they will be supremely happy—make this a FORD CHRISTMAS.

"MANHATTAN"

Richard Dix's first Paramount starring picture, "Manhattan," with Jacqueline Logan, Gregory Kelly, George Seigmann and others playing in support, will be shown at the Luna Lite Theatre next Thursday to remain for three days.

The story opens on Peter Minuit (Dix), a wealthy young bachelor who tires of the uneventful routine of his daily life and ventures out into Hell's Kitchen section of New York City in search of adventure. He finds it—with a vengence!

Here's real entertainment. Dix has always been a prime favorite with the fans and in "Manhattan," a story all his very own, he's going to prove more popular than ever.

"DANGEROUS MONEY"

In Manager Connors' announcement that "Dangerous Money," a new Paramount picture, is coming to the Luna Lite Theatre for four days' run, screen fans will find several interesting facts. For one thing, the picture marks the debut of Bebe Daniels as a star in her own right. Then again, the photoplay introduces a newcomer in the directorial field, Frank Tuttle, not altogether unknown since he gained no little fame as a scenario writer.

Miss Daniels, of course, needs no introduction to the millions who daily patronize the pictures. "Dangerous Money" is a particularly happy choice as her first starring vehicle, because it gives Bebe a splendid opportunity to display her talent.

The production is an adaptation by Julie Herne of Robert Herrick's absorbing novel, "Clark's Field." It is a swift moving romance, depicting the adventures of a poverty-stricken but beautiful girl who comes into a fortune, only to realize in the end that easy money is dangerous money,

The supporting cast that surrounds the irresistable Bebe includes among others, Tom Moore, William Powell and Dolores Cassinelli.

There are any numbr of big scenes the action centering about the Brooklyn waterfront, an Italian villa, an aristocratic finishing school and a fashionable New York Hotel. Mr. Tuttle has given the picture a very careful production, and fans are assured of an hour's solid entertainment.

A SIGN OF WINTER

The first positive evidence of approaching winter: a call for clothing and other articles needed by the poor of the city to keep warm.

That call should bring forth an avalanche of "heavies" discarded suits, dresses, shoes, mittens, old overcoats, blankets, comforts, faded and patched quilts— all things which will be needed by the unfortunates of Marion before many weeks and some of them immediately.

Every household has its quota of exactly the articles called for. In most of them the stuff is simply in the way and the giving of it to some worthy person or to the organization which will distribute it is not charity; it is expediency. Bundle up your offering now, that the charity workers may get it when the need becomes great.

LET'S ALL HELP GLADDEN HEARTS OF MARION KIDDIES

Did you ever see Christmas morning without Santa Claus? Do you remember when as a little fellow you crawled out of bed, in your little night shirt and bare-footed slipped down stairs, quietly, lest you waked up your dad and mother? You wanted to see if Santa Claus had arrived. You did not want to wait until the breakfast call. All night long, when you had tried to sleep, dreams of Santa Claus coming down the chimney filled your mind with composite happiness and sorrow, the latter when you wondered if he might forget. But old Santa had not forgotten. He had come, and there was the tree filled until the boughs were bending, the stocking filled to overflowing, even the floor covered.

Santa Claus was good to you.

But in those days many boys and girls did not see the blessings of Santa Claus. They got up all right, just as you did, but somehow or other old Santa had more of a load than he could bear and homes were missed.

There were tears.

There were heartaches.

The life of a child, beautifully simple, beautifully cast, was filled with doubt and misgiving, probably for the first time

There were good fellows then, of course. Lots of them, but they were not organized. For several years in Marion they have been organized. Every boy and girl has experienced the joy of Santa Claus, and what a joy, and how much more blessed it is to give, than to receive.

The Marion Community Christmas tree makes possible this glorious Christmas, this 100 per cent Santa Claus excursion into Marion, Grant County, Indiana.

The money raised from the show Tuesday and Wednesday nights, at the Indiana Theatre, the money from subscriptions, several hundreds of dollars, will be used in filling hundreds of Christmas boxes, and in buying toys, candy and nuts galore.

There shall, God being willing, be no childhood tears in Marion Christmas morning of 1924

Buying it in Marion

By the Shopper

It is not my intention to editorialize this column because I am not an editorial writer and then too, this is no place for it. But I do want to say that just on the eve of buying things for Christmas, it may be well to say that the Marion merchants will be better prepared than ever to take care of your wants. They are receiving new goods every day, and soon will be "full up to the top." Some of them, maybe, have received all their holiday stock already, but we believe that many of them receive Christmas merchandise from day to day from now on until the holidays.

The Vanity Shoppe is always busy. This is evidence of satisfactory work.

The Boston Store is getting ready for the arrival of Santa Claus. Every youngster in Grant County is looking forward and counting the days until his arrival at the Boston Store. It won't be many days now until he will put in his appearance.

Barley-Spencer Lumber Co. has a very striking miniature bungalow on display in one of the store windows of the new Spencer Hotel. This is a very attractive and effective piece of advertising.

Practically all the stores in Marion have decked out in true Christmas spirit. Both thhe interior and window displays have been happily arranged to present the most attractive Christmas merchandise for the gift shoppers.

Conway Tearle has not signed with Robert Kane productions to appear in a series of pictures to be released by Paramount, reports in publications notwithstanding. In a telegram re-received by his Los Angeles representative, Tearle said, "Please deny published reports that I have signed a contract with Robert Kane productions to play in a series of pictures. There have been negotiations in the matter, but I have decided not to accept."

Douglas Fairbanks is going to make his new picture, a modern Spanish melodrama, in California and Spain. He has engaged R. A. Walsh,

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

One of the many highlights in "The Side Show of Life," Herbert Brenon's production of William J. Locke's gripping story, "The Monutebank", coming to the Luna Lite Theatre on Sunday for four days, is Ernest Torrence's superb characterization of the chief character. The performance he gives in this picture lives. Only Torrence could make such a man stand out as a worthy successor of Bill Jackson—the role he played in "The Covered Wagon."

This picture has all the dash and color of circus life. Brenon has given the entire production a de luxe mounting and that means the last word in settings, backgrounds and costumes.

Anna Q. Nilsson is featured with Mr. Torrence. She is the titled Lady Auriol Dayne with whom the clown falls hopelessly in love; as usual Miss Nilsson gives a capital performance.

Neil Hamilton who has the prominent juvenile role in D. W. Griffith's "America," heads the supporting cast which includes among others, Louise Lagrange, Maurice Cannon and Effie Shannon.

"Merton of the Movies," the deliciously satirical comedy-drama of Hollywood's movieland, is "the picture with the perfect cast."

James Cruze, the man who made "The Covered Wagon," and other notable recent Paramount successes, directed "Merton." It is a story of a movie-struck country youth who goes penniless to Hollywood, meets adversities and indifference, but eventually wins stardom thru the guidance of a picture-wise girl.

Glenn Hunter the "Merton" who captivated the New York stage, has the starring role. Viola Dana, petite star, is featured opposite him as Sally "Flips" Montague, the super-movie-sophisticated actress who leads his dangling feet to the dizzy height of success.

Others in the cast include DeWitt Jennings, Elliott Roth, Charles Sellon, Charles Ogle, Ethel Wales, Luke Cosgrave, Gale Henry, Frank Jonasson and Eleanor Lawson.

GLENN HUNTER

Viola Dana, for eight years a star in her own right, makes her debut in Paramount pictures in "Merton of the Movies."

Altough each had known of the other for years and had mutual friends, they met for the first time when Hunter stepped from a transcontinental train at Los Angeles.

And through a curious co-incidence Glenn Hunter, the "Merton" of the photoplay, made "Merton of the Movies" his first appearance in the West.

Conrad Nagel and his wife were planning a trip to New York this fall, but the new Nagel residence now under construction in Beverly Hills requires so much of Nagel's time it has been postponed.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Christmas is Humanity's holiday. That day Man is Superman. That day witnesses his virtues in ascendency. "Peace on earth, good will to men." "The gift without the giver is bare." "Merry Christmas!" Ransack memory for phrases born of Christmas and you find none reflecting else than glory upon the species.

Christmas is, too, the major holiday of the theatre. Man's institution of daily holidays. To the theatre Man comes Christmas Day from his home, bringing his family, his ideals tuned to highest pitch, his tastes to keenest edge. To complete his day of days by supplying entertainment in key with his uplifted personality is the charge of the playhouse.

This charge is perhaps the most cherished privilege of the showman. This day his contribution to his community is especially vital. This day he experiences a degree of that ennobling thrill Tradition has personified in Santa Claus. His single regret is that he cannot convey to every individual personally these, his Christmas Greetings.

MOVIES

Bishop Ethelbert Talbot of the American Protestant Episcopal Church declared recently in London that the movies did more good than scholarly books.

"At the movies, he declared, "you get in touch with the passions that were given us to be gratified in a proper manner.

"Why do people read detective stories? Because they crave life, and there is no healthier sign."

Movies, according to the bishop, were amply meeting the demand for more life among the people.

The shortened silhouette which, according to latest imports, means skirts reaching just to the knees, has little resemblance to the abbreviated treatments of four or five years ago. Now the short skirt is inclined to a certain fulness, and instead of the ultra simplicity of the bodices worn before, long sleeves and high collars are an almost incongruous compliment that gives a new and smart appeal to the spring styles.

To all appearances we are again launched in a season of two-piece frocks, for the mode is youthful and women wait eagerly for its reendorsement so they may wear it with the confidence that it is fashionably correct.

Now practically every import collection is dotted with two-piece conceptions and generally the skirts, like Chanel's are flared in front or made with pleats in front. Velvet with fabrics, plaid worsteds, flat crepes, and even chiffon with lace, and Roma dinner frocks are interpreted in some variation of the two-piece mode.

A concerted effort to get away from the severely simple frocks of the past, which could be copied for a song, has found a feeling in sympathy on every hand and those who predicted more elaboration in style have had their predictions realized in mid-season showings.

Southern fashions have made transparent effects of paramount importance, and even cloths are covered with hand drawn work so that a slip of contrasting color is necessary. Eyelet embroidery, in formal types, is another detail that gives a transparent effect, while really diaphanous fabrics are more in evidence than ever. Slashed navy blue chiffons over white is a Lanvin feature, and Jenny continues to use georgette for street wear with silk braid of self coloring.

Subtle flares and front fulness, that require fine workmanship and careful cutting, dominate advance spring showings, and the tubular severity of the past is conspiciously absent. Flares and flounces are variously achieved and, in almost every instance skirts for the new season are made in several layers necessitated by slashed skirts and tunic arrangements.

Laces, if one may judge from current showing, promises to be one of the biggest items for spring, and entire dresses made in silk and chantilly laces are shown, frequently broad bands of plain materials giving them a certain practical finish.

Long sleeves and higher necklines for fall had a practical appeal that seemed to lessen their fashion significance, but in the new collections one sees these features expressed in chiffons and laces, and their practicability is cancelled by the fragile fabrics in which they are interpreted.

Lace with printed chiffons and plain fabrics, is cleverly worked into the fabric, and colored laces match-

Daniels has every thing that is required of a good back guard—good floorwork, excellent defensive play and a keen basket eye.

Every day sees all-round improvement in Wilkes, the new forward of the Marion team. His shooting is sure and now his teamwork with the other players is developing splendidly.

The famous Second Friends five, which did such outstanding work in the Church basketball league last year, is expected to be one of the leading teams in the league this year. The game between the team and the First M. E. quintet on Jan. 3, is one of the contests in the curch league and is looked forward to as one of the fastest games scheduled.

Chapman has led the scoring in both games played so far this year, but takes care of his floor guarding at the same time.

The team is thrilling the fans with its working together and promises to rival the Wonder Five in teamwork.

Jacqueline Logan's romance with George Melford—if it ever was a romance—is ended now. Jackie denies that she is engaged to marry the director, and her mother says that Jackie is her baby girl—not even twenty-two years old yet—and that she would not allow her daughter to become engaged to a man who still had a wife, anyway.

Mrs. Melford sued her husband for divorce about a year ago. Miss Logan denies that she was named as co-respondent in the suit, and declares that the linking of her name with that of the director caused her much unpleasant publicity.

Barbara LaMarr was very ill recently as the result of an over dose of nux vomica. Reports that she attempted to take her life, because of repeated unhappy matrimonial ventures, have been consistently denied by her. Matrimony may have proved a failure for Barbara, but at least her husbands have remained her friends. And now comes the report that Jack Dougherty has relinquished his claim on the love star's affection, retreated to a second place of friends, and is speeding toward Hollywood and the divorce courts. Ben Finney remains in New York to console Barbara permanently. They have admitted their love for each other, so Jack has good-naturedly left the field of Barbara's suitors, and entered the one of Barbara's friends.

The story is by Arthur Ripley, and its principal scenes are laid in a church during a wedding ceremony. Langdon is the groom with Natalie Kingston as the bride. Vernon Dent as the pessimist almost succeeds in spoiling the whole affair while William McCall as the girl's father supplies many comedy situations.

"Worldly Goods," a Paramount picture starring Agnes Ayres, is the feature at the Luna Lite Theatre for three days starting Thursday.

Miss Ayres' role in the picture is that of a secretary to the manager of a large department store. She studies fashions when not punching her typewriter. Into Eleanor's life comes a breezy, young auto salesman. Hopper, played by Pat O'Malley, devotes part of his time thinking out schemes and deals calculated to make him a millionaire over night. He has great confidence in his ability to put over the "big idea" and sweeps Eleanor off her feet in a glamour of romance. Fred sells himself to her 100%. He tells the girl of his million dollar plans and she is convinced that her future husband is about the cleverest man alive. Fred promises her automobiles, fur coats, travel, servants, and every luxury, and in time they are married.

Six months later Fred is still making promises, but the automobiles and servants have thus far failed to materialize. He flits from scheme to scheme, but never sees any of them to a successful conclusion. In the meantime the pair begin to feel the touch of poverty, and it is then Eleanor decides to get her old job back. She does so.

The "other woman" enters the story here just as Fred stumbles upon some wonderful news and cleans up on his "hunch." Instead of rushing to Eleanor with the good news, he is summoned to her lawyer's office to face divorce proceedings. Then the story takes another novel twist, a reconciliation is effected, and the picture closes with every

HAPPY NEW YEAR

New Year's Day—the day of new beginnings—how vital to Civilization and individualism. A fresh start toward the goal. A clean page. A day of standing still to look backward over the bumpy road traversed—forward into the banked mists ahead. A day to gather courage for the plunge onward.

Men require these mile posts. Men, nations, communities, institutions, require periodical analysis of status. Time sets a grueling pace. Progress exacts heavy toll. Direction is obscured in heavy going. Courage falters when shadows settle over the course.

Marion will be a better city in 1925 as every year in the degree of our ability to sustain the clearness of vision, the strength of purpose, gained in this brief space of looking about, taking inventory, planning action. Ours will be a better theatre, enabled as we are this day as at no other time to determine accurately the needs of our institution and the clientele it serves.

Our "Happy New Year" to you is not merely a wish. It is a prophecy made with confidence based upon 1,924 New Year's Days that are history.

GIVE YOUR MERCHANTS A CHANCE

Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Buyer are you giving Marion Merchants a fair chance to sell you your supplies? Do you shop first in Marion or do you go out of town to buy your goods? You want good stores in Marion don't you? Are you people who reside in Marion and vicinity doing all in your power to make Marion grow? You are proud of your town, you will freely say so. Then why not do your part to make Marion bigger and better as a trading center?

There are many people in this section who buy of the mail order houses. We are told there are thousands of dollars yearly that are sent to the big mail order houses in the big cities. Why don't you buy in Marion? Marion merchants have about everything you want and if they haven't it, they can get it for you. Why not give them the chance to make good?

A story is told of a woman who went to Indianapolis recently to buy a certain article. Arriving there she found she couldn't get the size she wanted. The following day she found it in a Marion store and at a price considerably below what she would have had to pay in Indianapolis. She was convinced then and there it was foolish to spend a whole day, her car fare and other expenses of going to Indianapolis when she could buy just as well at home and with no travel expense and little trouble.

If you find the article isn't what you want you can change it and without having to spend a day going to the city to do it. You can buy nationally made articles right in Marion just as well as you can in Indianapolis. The Marion merchants are here to serve you. You would feel pretty bad if there were no stores in Marion. Sure you would. You would kick a good deal if all the merchants went out of business. They are not going out of business. They are trying to show you they have the goods you want in their stores. They want to show you the advantage of buying in your own town. More trade in the stores will make better stores. Why not give them all of your business?

THINK IT OVER!

A GOOD FAMILY RESOLUTION for the New Year would be one covering the subject of Saving for Next Christmas. Saving is worth while, and next Christmas when a check comes from us you'll appreciate the value of the Christmas savings habit. It is not hard to cultivate, for every one of us spends many a dollar needlessly.

On December 15th, 1925, we will mail you your Christmas Check according to the following schedule dating from December 6th, 1924.

Deposit 25c per week	$ 12.50	plus interest
Deposit 50c per week	$ 25.00	plus interest
Deposit $1.00 per week	$ 50.00	plus interest
Deposit $2.00 per week	$100.00	plus interest
Deposit $5.00 per week	$250.00	plus interest

This is also an opportune time to start your regular savings on which we pay 4% compounded annually. Open 6 p. m. until 9 p. m. Sat. Eve.

MOVIE HUNT FINDS A "SECOND LINCOLN"

George Billings, who plays Abraham Lincoln in Al and Ray Rockett's production, "Abraham Lincoln," coming soon to the Luna Lite Theatre, was, previous to his engagement, a letter carrier in Hollywood, Cal. After the Rockett brothers had spent twelve months hunting men "who looked like Lincoln," including scores of professional actors who made a business of playing the Great emancipator, they noticed Billings, a tall thin, stooped man delivering mail in their home town. He is a man the exact height and build and with much of the facial contours of Lincoln.

Billings had lived in Hollywood for years and had never been in a motion picture studio, even on a visit.

His resemblance to Lincoln is so remarkable and his ability to assume the infinitely tender, humorous and sad expression of Lincoln that when ex-Senator Cornelius Cole, of Cincinnati, a friend and associate of Lincoln, saw Billings at the First National Studios, he said:

"I was shocked. He was enough like Lincoln to be Lincoln. It gave me a strange feeling of mystery, for the last time I had seen Lincoln was the day of his assassination. The likeness is uncanny."

New Year's Greeting

WITH THE WANING OF THE OLD YEAR AND THE WELCOME OF THE NEW WE DESIRE TO EXPRESS OUR THANKS AND APPRECIATION TO THOSE WHO HAVE FAVORED US WITH THEIR PATRONAGE.

THESE MANIFESATIONS OF THEIR CONFIDENCE ARE, INDEED, GRATIFYING AND AN INSPIRATION TOWARD GREATER EFFORT TO BE OF WHOLESOME SERVICE DURING 1925.

AGAIN WE EXTEND TO YOU OUR BEST WISHES FOR A PROSPEROUS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR.

The Best Place to Shop After All.

Fashion

"The more that one takes off-within reason—the smarter one will be," is cold but true for the winter mode. And so the mode turns for warmth and color of accessories.

Chokers, white, pastel tinted and antique gold, still grace the fashionable throat.

The mode no longer strives to be pretty! To be slim and sleek is far more chic.

* * *

Flesh, fuschia, white and ombre tones are smartest for evening.

* * *

Evening bags, studded with crystal or rhinestones, make for a brilliant evening. More youthful, but equally smart, are ostrich bags to match one's frock.

Two distinctly smart and distinctly different silouettes prevail for evening. The beltless tunic and the youthfully bouffant.

The leopard couldn't change his spots, so he made them the high spots of the mode—for both trimmings and complete costumes.

* * *

Velvet, printed with the most grotesque flowers that ever, or never grew, makes exquisite evening frocks.

* * *

Not being satisfied with nestling on a lady's shoulder, flowers now cling to her hem, which today is little more than knee-length.

No matter what color one's gown, flesh color hose is the rule for evening

* * *

The newest flower, by the way, is chrysanthemum, tho' the carnation and gardenia are by no means passe.

* * *

We thougt, this fall, that the golden touch of Midas was the last word in rich decoration. But, lo, today we see mother-of-pearl trimmings in frocks, bags and gloves!

SPORT GOSSIP

One of the best independent teams in the county is called the Sweetser Athletic club. It has won eight straight games and lost none.

* * *

The game Monday night between the Reo Speedwagon quintet and Spauldings of Indianapolis proved to be a real basket ball attraction. LaBarbera has succeeded in doing what many of us thought impossible —making professional basket ball a big attraction. If you'll watch his Reo squad in action just once—you'll go back again. If you missed the game be sure and get in on the next one.

* * *

One of the interesting organizations for sport this winter will be the Wildcat amateur basketball league, which contains teams with all kinds of wild names.

Marion and Grant County probably has more basketball teams than any other county in the state. There are hundreds of quintets in this county, organized for one of the greatest seasons in basketball. It's basketball, basketball, BASKETBALL, every where locally.

* * *

Digressing from the paths of high school basketball for a minute, it might be interesting to note that in the Marion Industrial league is the Burge Packing company team, ready to slaughter all opponents.

Arthur Stone started to work last week on a new two-reel comedy for Pathe as yet untitled.

The story is that of the adventures of a house detective in a high-class hotel who is more ambitious than intellectual. The cast consists of Arthur Stone as the detective, Martha Sleeper as the telephone operator, Marjorie Whities as the vamp, Chris Frank as the villain and Jules Mendal as the hotel proprietor.

Motion picture companies can get almost any sort of a location they want, even the homes of multi-millionaires. But they cannot use cathedrals.

An immense cathedral was built this week on the Thomas H. Ince lot for "Playing With Souls," It is more than two hundred feet from the camera to the altar. The expense of such a set, for a few feet showing a wedding, is the thing that makes picture producers lose sleep at nights.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

Not since be began making feature length comedies, has Harold Lloyd failed to put a motivating thought behind each of his pictures. There is a good thought behind "Hot Water," his newest bid for recognition as the world's greatest entertainer, even though it is entirely a laugh picture and was meant to be such.

"There is no home big enough for more than one family," is the thought conveyed in "Hot Water," to be shown at the Lyric all week. The new Lloyd picture relates the troubles of a young married couple after the wife's mother and her two brothers walk in on them and take possession of their little home.

Most mothers-in-law are sweet and kind, it is true, but down through the ages, one might say, they have been the butt of more good-natured humor than any other type of individuals. And, in "Hot Water," Lloyd makes good use of the theme to wring a series of laughs from his audiences that are said to be as long and as loud as ever has been found in a Lloyd picture.

Pola Negri comes to the Luna Lite Theatre Sunday for four days in the

Pola Negri

Paramount picture, "Forbidden Paradise," an Ernst Lubitsch production which features Rod La Rocque, Adolphe Menjou and Pauline Starke in the all-star supporting cast.

"Forbidden Paradise," adapted from the Broadway success, "The Czarina," a fine comedy-drama, is an up-to-date story of a small European kingdom. As the Czarina, Pola has a role which offers her every emotional opportunity. Pola, gorgeously gowned, a bejeweled Pola, queen of a tiny Balkan court—what a part it is! This picture is Ernst Lubitsch's first production starring Pola Negri since his arrival in this country and is said to far out-class anything either ever did on the other side.

The fans have been literally hollering their heads off since "Passion" was shown in this country for another Negri picture by the same director. Here it is—and well worth waiting for, too! Agnes Christine Johnson and Hans Kraly wrote the screen play.

There's a capable cast playing in support of the star and leading players.

You won't want to miss this one.

Mrs. Charles Johnson, known on the screen as Katherine MacDonald, is the mother of a baby boy. Miss MacDonald was at one time picked by Antoinette Donnelly as the most beautiful motion star in the screen realm. After her marriage to Chas. This is Jobyana Ralston's reply to all questions relative to the clipping of her long brown curls. This is her own personal interest in the matter. As a matter of professional interest she couldn't have her hair bobbed if she wanted to. She is under contract to Harold Lloyd with a stipulated phrase in the contract that she is not to bob her hair during the interval of her engagement with him. Miss Ralston is Harold Lloyd's leading lady in his latest success "Hot Water."

MARION CREED FOR 1925

I believe in Marion—its people and its institutions.

I believe in the integrity of my fellow citizens.

I believe that Marion can progress only as its varied industries thrive and prosper.

I believe that prosperity can result only where there is unity of purpose.

I believe that community progress can never exceed individual progress.

Therefore, I believe in community loyalty; that every citizen should speak well of his city, his neighbors and the institutions of his city.

I believe that every person has an individual responsibility to his city.

I believe that the collective loyalty and the collective responsibility to Marion can be best expressed through the organized effort, which in my city is centered within the Marion Association of Commerce.

Through the Marion Association of Commerce community opinion is focused; the business community speaks. The Marion Association of Commerce investigates, initiates, informs, advises and recommends. It mobilizes the business brains of the city—through its 600 members, its committees and its staff. Through its efforts and collective ability results for the advancement of this city can best be obtained.

SPORT GOSSIP

The snappiest topic of interest among followers of the Marion high school net squal is the Marion-Fairmount game, the first of the two games scheduled between the two schools this year, and which is to be played at Fairmount, January 1st. The size of the Fairmount floor, and the unprecedented strength of the Fairmount team is taken into consideration, and it is thought that Coach Thomas' boys will have one of the hardest games of the season when they face the team coached by Paul White.

* * *

Overman's playing in the Newcastle game is the latest food for thought among the local coaches. Overman took Murphy's place at center and had plenty of fight and basketba ability.

* * *

Marion is without boxing at th present time. A Fort Wayne news paper called a local newspaper th other day and inquired if there ha been any bouts here recently.

* * *

Coach White is training his player carefully for the Marion game. Fai mount does not have another gam before that and every possible pre paration will be made for the Mario contest.

Our Winter Sale

Marion's finest clothing for men—is offered at substantial reductions. There's not much more to be said about a sale here. We don't go into the superlatives much—and these days the description of a suit or overcoat selling at a medium price—leaves nothing to be said about those of finer fabric and superior tailoring. However there is a difference and a great many men have found that fine gold band doesn't always make a twenty-five cent cigar. If you are in the market for a new suit or overcoat—here's a suggestion for your consideration.

$20 SUITS —and— OVERCOATS —Now— $15.75	$25 SUITS —and— OVERCOATS —Now— $18.75	$30 SUITS —and— OVERCOATS —Now— $23.75
$35 SUITS —and— OVERCOATS —Now— $27.50	$40 SUITS —and— OVERCOATS —Now— $31.50
$45 SUITS —and— OVERCOATS —Now— $35.00	$50 and $55 SUITS —and— OVERCOATS —Now— $38.50	$60 and $65 SUITS —and— OVERCOATS —Now— $46.50

The garments offered here at special prices have not gone through a dozen previous sales—and they measure up to the standard of this institution which puts quality first— and makes price the secondary consideration.

Nearly everyone in the city is preparing to play basketball. There was a rumor this week that the lawyers of the town were contemplating the organization of a team, and that possibly the Retail bureau would place a strong five in the field, too.

That would leave the Ministerial Association, the Grant county Medics and the Grant County Dentists yet to get their teams in readiness.

* * *

To keep plenty of basketball material trained and to increase the interest in trying to "make" the varsity squad, Coach Thomas has announced that inter-mural basketball will be played in the high school. Paul Kepner, assistant football coach and basketball referee, will have charge of the games between the high school classes.

Straws that show which way the wind blows for 1925

In 1903 the Boston Americans played the Pittsburgh Nationals for the baseball championship of the world and the gate receipts were forty-nine thousand, eight hundred dollars.

Twenty years later the Yankees played the Giants for championship and the gate receipts were more than a million.

A GENUINE GLOOM CHASER

There was never a time in the history of America when we needed more helpful co-operation, more smiles, more love, more sunshine, more laughter, more ambition, more optimism, happiness and contentment in our social and business life. That is the creed of the motion pictures. This is no time for gloom or pessimism, assassination of character, suspicion, hatred or intolerance. Such a creed is more appropriate for those who refuse to view many good things in life in the light of their achievement.

HOW TO KILL THE MARION ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE

Get sore if you are not appointed on a committee; but if you are, do not attend committee meetings.

If you are asked by the chairman to give your opinion regarding some important matter, tell him you have nothing to say. After the meeting tell everyone how things ought to be.

Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary; but when other members roll up their sleeves and willingly, unselfishly use their ability to help matters along, howl that the organization is run by a clique.

Hold back your dues as long as possible, or don't pay at all.

Don't bother about getting new members. Let the secretary do it.

When a dinner is given, tell everybody money is being wasted on "blowouts" which make a big noise and accomplish nothing.

Don't ask for a dinner ticket until all are sold.

Notes from Movieland

Betty Compson has begun work in "New Lives for Old," under the direction of Clarence Badger. This is his first production for Paramount. Wallace MacDonald is Miss Compson's leading man.

Besides Miss Compson and Mr. MacDonald the cast includes Theodore Kosloff, John Joyce, Margaret Seddon, Joseph Dowling, Gail Henry and Helen Dunbar.

"New Lives for Old" deals with Paris and America in war time and concerns a famous dancer who sacrifices love and reputation for the sake of her country.

The Lloyd Hughes fans will be glad to know that their favorite has been chosen as leading man for Colleen Moore in "Sally." The Ziegfeld stage success, in which Marilyn Miller starred on Broadway, will go into production in Hollywood shortly. Leon Errol, who was featured in the stage version, will bring to the screen the role he made famous, while Eva Novak will portray the role originated by Mary Hay.

No cast has yet been chosen for the motion picture version, but we'll never forgive Famous Players-Lasky if they don't give Percy Marmont the leading male role.

WHO'S RUNNING THINGS?

Occassionally some one takes a crack at the Association of Commerce for the way it is run; because the fellows are not doing it right, or because they see a clique trying to run things.

Fortunately Marion has very little of that kind of feeling, all of which is responsible for the exceptional progress of this community and city.

Looking at the organization from the outside one might get this distorted view, but before judgment is passed upon this or any other organization for the uplift of the community one should get an inside view of the program.

The Association of Commerce is a wide open organization. The thought among members is that every one possible should be induced to belong, and they should also attend the meetings and take part in the activities calculated to build the city.

All of us should bear in mind that those who are indulging in Association of Commerce activities are not doing so for the love of the work so much as they are for the benefit of the entire city, and were it not for these men who are always ready to give of their time and their money for the promotion of the city's general interests there would be a back sliding which would be alarming.

Good news for Marion picture fans is contained in a recent report that the beautiful Gladys Walton has returned to the silver sheet and is portraying the leading feminine role in the forthcoming Associated Exhibitor's production entitled "The Sky Raider."

The appearance of Gladys Walton in "The Sky Raider" marks the star's comeback to the screen after a year's absence.

TO MAKE YOU LAUGH AND BE HAPPY

A task that the Marion theatre management takes seriously.

The task of choosing the entertainment for a city like Marion is not one to be taken lightly.

What one person likes, another thinks is terrible, and so it goes; to try and please everyone is the next thing to impossible, nevertheless we are striving always to do this very thing.

By a very careful record that Marion Theatre Management keep on every picture, they tabulate the type that satisfies the most people. Then when they have a certain type of picture, they form a contrast in their program with the short subjects, they call that balancing the program.

So on every program they try for something that everybody enjoys, for it is their true aim to maintain the standard of "the public be pleased."

Coach Thomas considered scheduling the Frankfort high school team on the Marion card for next year. The Frankfort business manager telephoned Thomas first, however, and offered some queer terms to the local mentor. They were rejected because of their disrespect.

The bright thing about Charley Murphy, elongated center on the Marion high school net team, is his "smile of battle." At every decision of the referee, favorable or otherwise, at every basket he scores, at every "held ball' decision, he smiles. That's making him known.

* * *

Basketball fans of Marion expect the high school team to go to the state tournament this year. Certainly Coach Thomas has never had better material to work into a tournament team.

Harold Lloyd figured prominently in a real rescue scene recently, while riding horseback with his wife, Jobyana Ralston and Duane Thompson in Griffity Park, Hollywood.

Miss Thompson's horse became frightened at the noise from an open cut-out on an automobile, and threw her to the ground. Lloyd caught the horse just as it was about to trample Miss Thompson. She will be confined to her home for several days, because of painful cuts and bruises.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

"North of 36" is a film with as many hair-raising thrills as there are feet of film.

Featuring Jack Holt, Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson and Noah Beery in the leading roles, "North of 36," opens for a five days' run at the Lyric Theatre.

Here's a story of the pioneers—a story of Texas, that'll knock you right off your feet. The time is directly after the Civil War when the Lone Star State was almost broke and at a loss for a market for its herds.

Word comes through that such a market is to be found far us "north of 36" and a girl is the first to undertake the perilous venture—and Texas is saved.

A ripple of amusement will greet Viola Dana's latest Metro picture "Along Came Ruth," which opens Friday at the Lyric Theatre, turning the ripple into hearty laughter as the story was unfolded.

Viola Dana plays Ruth Ambrose the girl who put the sleepiest town in Maine on the map, and at once proves herself the peppiest little comedienne on the screen.

Walter Hiers contributes some great comedy as a flashy town politician. Brenda Lane, who plays the pare of the "other girl," is very beautiful to look at. Others in the cas

Bebe Daniels and Ricardo Cortez are featured in the principal roles of the Paramount picture, "Argentine Love," which opens at the Luna Lite Theatre Sunday.

Miss Daniels has the role of a beautiful Spanish senorita who flouts all the old traditions of her race to marry a young American while her Spanish lover fights desperately to win her.

Ricardo Cortez, as the wealthy Argentinian, Juan Martin, gives the finest portrayal of his yet young screen career. James Rennie, heading the cast playing in support, is Philip Sears, the American engineer whose work brings him to the Argentine.

"Argentine Love" is a truly modern story of an old-world civilization with a happy ending.

THE ADVANCEMENT OF MOTION PICTURES

Only during the last few years has the motion picture begun to show famous book and stage stories in what are known as feature productions of five reels or more. It cannot be fairly judged by the past. Each year the demands of the public for better and more artistic pictures are satisfactorily met, with the result that the motion picture of even one or two years ago cannot be favorably compared with that of the present.

Public taste and opinion regarding pictures have changed—are constantly changing for the better. There was a time when so-called vampire pictures were popular in this country. Today, if a producer were to create that type of picture he could not get back the cost of making even one reel of such a production. The screen vampire is dead. The public does not want her. Is it fair to judge the motion picture by standards that are past and gone?

BOOST PROSPERITY

Everybody's talking Prosperity. But that isn't enough. Are you practicing Prosperity? "Practice what you preach" is good advice in every connection, including this one.

If everybody talks Prosperity it isn't going to create Prosperity if everybody padlocks his pockets and figures on letting the other fellow do the spending. On the other hand, if everybody spends a fair portion of his profits judiciously and constructively, nothing can prevent 1925 being a banner year.

We talk Prosperity and we practice Prosperity. We have contracted for a schedule of pictures which will break us unless this Prosperity is real. We are not worried about it. We know it is real. We expect the biggest year of our business life this year. Still we feel it our duty not only to enjoy this Prosperity but to talk about it, to "boost" it, as the saying is, and that is the purpose of this statement.

THE MOTION PICTURE AS AN EDUCATOR

The usefulness and influence of the motion picture covers indeed a wide range. In the class room, in the church, welfare organizations, and in business it plays an increasingly important part. Educational fields are being developed where the pedagogic motion picture will be shown in several hundred thousand places, where its influence will be exerted with tremendous force in the training of our young. The advantages of this method of visual training are now accepted generally. Six motion pictures will convey to a student of history more lasting knowledge of the history of the world than he or she can obtain in the entire course of the customary classroom study.

LADIES HAVE THEIR WAY

Ladies have their way, The modern motion picture is made in accordance with the ladies expressed preferences for certain kinds of entertainment. The successful motion picture theatre exhibits a program selected according to like considerations.

This is as it should be. The mother demands that which she wants her child to see. The wife demands that which she believes her husband should see. The "flapper" instinctively demands better grade of entertainment than the "sheik."

Men may quarrel as they will with this scheme of things, but it remains the existing scheme and it is unquestionably right. The world is better for it, and the theatre is a nobler institution under this arrangement than at any time in history.

Fairmount has a chance to come back this week and even the score for the year—at Marion this Saturday night.

Now and then you pick up among fans a bit of gossip regarding the luminaries most likely to give Marion the strongest fight in the sectional tournament. The past week saw Fairmount downed by Greensburg but still strong enough to dispute the right to the tourney championship.

Sweetser increased its strength as did Jonesboro, the former with a victory over the Swayzee five and the latter with a decisive win over Gas City. County fans are talking about Fairmount, Jonesboro and Sweetser.

Wilkes, Boykin, Murphy, Chapman, Daniels were all members of teams in the church basketball league at one time. This league is a training school for high school players.

* * *

Fairmount fans say the team is pointed for the Marion game, that even when playing Greensburg last week, the minds of the Fighting Five players were on the coming Marion game.

Speaking of substitutes, Fairmount and Marion each have one outstanding utility man on their basketball squads. Fairmount has Houston, stout young forward, and Marion has Overman, who plays either forward or center.

for Chicago, where he will enter high school, says he expects the competition for the football team there to be tough, but he hopes to gain a place on the squad. Eddie, one of the best Marion players of the season just past, will enter Lane Tech High at Chicago.

As you look at the high school situation in the county at this time, Marion stands as the strongest, with Fairmount unquestionably second. Jonesboro would have raced Fairmount for a close second. By virtue of her fight against Marion and Fairmount's loss to Marion, but Jonesboro lost to Converse there and went down before Converse at Jonesboro, while Fairmount crushed Noblesville and Wabash on two successive nights. Sweetser, victorious over Summitville and Van Buren, bobs up to dispute Jonesboro's claim to third place.

Rudolph Valentino's next photoplay will be "Cobra" instead of "The Scarlet Power." "The Scarlet Power" will be made following the completion of "Cobra."

To make "Cobra" Valentino will have to sacrifice the beard he has been growing for his part in "The Scarlet Power" so that the public will never see the picturesque appendage that attracted so much newspaper attention both in this country and in Europe. It is supposed, however, that when "Cobra" is completed another beard will be raised to meet the requirements of the Spanish piece.

Bebe Daniels' next Paramount picture following the recently completed "Miss Bluebeard" is to be an adaptation of "The Crowded Hour," a Jane Cowl stage success written by Edgar Selwyn and Channing Pollock.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

"Sinners in Silk," which opens for a three days' engagement at the Lyric Theatre is new in more ways than one.

Adolphe Menjou, who has become known for his roles of suavity and cynical humor, plays the part of the old-young man. It is undoubtedly his best work yet on the screen.

The attraction listed at the Luna Lite Theatre for four days is "The Red Lily," a tale of adventure in Paris.

Comedy, drama, Viola Dana, and girls, girls, girls! That's the description of the star's latest picture, "The Beauty Prize," which opens for three days at the Luna Lite Theatre and a delightfully entertaining picture it is, too!

Fans have become so used to hearing about so called "all-star" casts in pictures that they are apt to pass up the real thing when it comes along.

Cecil B. DeMille's newest production for Paramount, "The Golden Bed," coming to the Lyric Theatre next Sunday to Wednesday, is a picture with an all-star cast if there ever was one.

Featured in the principal roles are Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Lillian Rich, Warner Baxter, Theodore Kosloff and Julia Faye.

Miss Reynolds is said to have an acting chance even better than in "Feet of Clay."

WE LIKE MARION

Ever stop to wonder why you like one town better than another? If you've ever tried to figure it out, you've traced the matter of a city's desirability as a place to live directly to the business men of that city. Commercially, a city is as good as its business men, and no city ever is better any way than it is commercially.

We like Marion. That's why we're here. We like the way the business men of Marion do things, the fair and square treatment they give our public and theirs, and the fair, square treatment they accord each other.

We trade here, too. Not because things are always cheaper here, though they usually are, but because we get not only our money's worth but a substantial interest on our money in courtesy, reliability, service. In addition, this is our town, we're proud of it, and we want to see it grow in the direction it is growing.

It was expected generally that Marion would be given the sectional, although the sending of the Marion sectional winner to a regional at Kokomo was a surprise. Last year there were four regionals, this year eight. The strongest teams in the Kokomo regional, if all of them win their sectional meets, will be Kokomo, Marion, Huntington and North Manchester.

Nine Grant county teams are placed in the local sectional. The ones most likely to give Marion the hardest race for the honors are Fairmount, Jonesboro and Sweetser. The others always have a chance of rising to unexpected heights in tournaments, however.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

"Classmates," Richard Barthelmess' new First National production, which opens at th Lyric Theatre Sunday, is probbably the most varied story this young star has ever been seen in on the screne.

"Classmates" has the appeal of "Tol'able David," the force of "Fury" and the fine historical strength of "The Enchanted Cottage," other Barthelmess pictures, along with a distinctly different interest.

Briefly, "Classmates" is the story of a poor boy of the North Carolina mountains who wins an appointment to West Point, loses his commission in a quarrel with another chap and finally redeems himself in an expedition into the South American jungle.

Aside from Madge Evans, Dick's supporting cast includes Claude Brooke, Reginald Sheffield, Charlotte Walker, former star; James Brad-

NOW'S THE BEST TIME.

What's the best time to go to the show? Ever ask anyone that? It's a common question. We always answer by saying, "Now's the time." And our reason is not the one you might guess.

Our reason is that we don't know which of the week's or months attractions you'll like best, nor at what hour of the day you're in the best frame of mind to enjoy any picture. Therefore, we base our answer on the theory that the time you are moved to inquire about pictures is the time your mind is receptively disposed toward picture entertainment and that the present engagement is the great majority of cases the best chance you will have to see the present attraction.

* * *

To make you happy is a task that the management of the Marion Theatatre Company takes seriously. The task of choosing the entertainment for a city like Marion is one that should not be taken lightly. There are various classes of theatre-goers. Each class requires something different in the entertainment line. The program selected for the four theatres operated by the Marion Theatre Company, the Lyric, the Luna Lite, Indiana and Marion are booked after much thought has been given each attraction.

Gas Service--

WHEN YOU make a purchase of a commodity or a service, you generally specify time of delivery and quality. Your gas company, however, requires no such specification. It delivers what you ask for in any amount, at any time your fancy or needs dictate. During every minute of the 24 hours of the 365 days in the year, we must anticipate and be ready to meet the demands of our customers.

SUCH PUBLIC is more than a matter of modern machines and equipment. Back of the service there is human organization that must anticipate many varying needs. They must battle with the elements. They are imbued with a spirit of SERVICE without compromise or excuse.

WERE IT NOT for the loyalty and faithfulness of those who constitute the grain and brawn of the gas business there would be no such thing as an uninterrupted gas supply.

Harold Lloyd and company are engaged upon a story of college and campus life for his next release and the production is half through. One of the important sequences is a real football game and Harold cleverly took advantage of the game between the University of California and Stanford at the California Memorial Stadium, when a crowd of 90,000 enthusiasts assembled on the grounds. Through the courtesy of the officials of the university he was granted permission to shoot, and all the facilities of the stadium were placed at his disposal. Prior to the actual start of the university game, Harold and his company of players and cameramen, of whom there were eight, took the field and staged their picture version

"Abraham Lincoln," the picture which has been the sensation of the movie world, starts Sunday at the Lyric and runs all week.

"Abraham Lincoln" was more than two years in the making, and at times as many as 2,500 people appear in the cast. It deals with the life of

George Billings

Lincoln from his birth, through his boyhood, the presidency and the strife of the Civil War, depicts the surrender of Lee and shows life in Washington after the war and finally his assassination.

Ruth Clifford

George Billings, considered to be a perfect likeness to the famous national hero, plays the title role, and Ruth Clifford is seen as Anne Rutledge. Nell Craig is Mrs. Lincoln. These are the principal figures in the remarkably fine cast, "Abraham Lincoln."

of the first year of newly married life —"Tomorrow's Love."

or, Paul Bern, was selected to direct.

Bern, who made "Worldly Goods," in which Miss Ayers appeared at the Luna Lite but a short time ago, specializes in domestic dramas and his latest embodies a humorous sequence of events in the life of a young couple, portrayed by Miss Ayers and Pat O'-Malley, leading man.

One of the finest casts ever given Miss Ayers supports the star in this picture. O'Malley, on the strength of his excellent performance in 'Worldly Goods,' again is leading man. SPORT GOSSIP

Fans have been pointing to the prospects for next year's Marion high school team. Murphy and Chapman will be left. If Murphy grows any more, he will probably be the tallest center in the state next year.

Brunn and Johnson are two of the keenest forwards in basketball togs. Both are little and lightning fast. With a little height and weight attained during the summer they will be a great pair of forwards for next year's team.

Casey, who has more of the bubbling scrap than many others, will probably clinch the floor guard job. He should be good next season.

Everett Chapman, Lane, Whitehurst, Overman, Kilgore will be back next year. Kilgore promises to be one of the best back guards in the history of the school.

There's a lot of gossip about the sectional tournament which is but three weeks off. Fairmount and Marion appear to be the strongest teams in the district. All other teams in the country have a chance, however, to show unprecedented strength at tourney time.

Then there should be a real football team next season. Chasey, Custer, Bragg, Bullet Miller, Chapman, Heck, Miller and others will be in moleskins for the Purple and Gold.

Custer and Chasey, although small, are expected to be the power in the

YE EDITOR SAYS

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY

St. Valentine's Day for Sentiment. And has the world time for sentiment? Ask ye that of other than theatre folk. Sentiment is bread-and-butter to the showman.

With the advent of the motion picture the theatre becomes the world's meeting place. Before the screen mankind today convenes in numbers undreamed of in dark eras. From this world wide convention in unified holiday arises a singularity of thought, ideal, purpose, immeasurable in value by finate standards. And the cement of this community is sentiment.

Once the love lorn swain dispatched a lacy, filigreed verses to his heart's desire. Today he takes her to a "movie." Once the sweet young thing blushed as she gushed her acknowledgement of his chocolates. Today she munches them as she complains, "O, I thought Valentino was in this picture."

No, St. Valentine's Day hasn't "gone to the dogs." It's "gone to the movies" and grown up.

* * *

GOOD WILL.

In magazines devoted to commerce and business we read long articles by learned men discussing the importance of cultivating the good will of the customer. These always give us a pain.

Good will is not a thing you can buy, cultivate or otherwise obtain unless you deserve it. If you earn it by deserving it, you simply have it and that's all there is to the matter.

The Marion Theatre Company does not deliberately seek to cultivate your good will. They merely give you the best entertainment they can obtain for the fairest possible price. They know that they have your good will, because you couldn't bear them under those circumstances.

Further, they know the good business men of its community enjoy your good will for the same reasons. And it is because there are so many of these good business men in Marion that they have established and will continue to maintain and operate their theatres in this city.

THE VIRTUE OF MOTION PICTURES.

Motion pictures open to millions a new vista of knowledge and beauty. They bring the glories of an Alpine sunset, the mysterious charm of the Orient, the cool feathery waterfall—the multitudinous wonders of nature into the drab lives of the tenement dweller, the factory worker.

Motion pictures provide countless hours of laughter, of romance and adventure for a great class of Americans who are otherwise unable to afford the luxury of frequent entertainment.

Motion pictures give opportunities to millions to see the work of great artists, to know many of the best actors and actresses of the generation, and they will preserve to posterity the histrionic art of this period.

Motion pictures play a noble, generous part in every public charity. They feed the orphan of every land, and during the war they were the government's greatest propagandist.

Motion picture patrons appreciate the high standard of cinema offerings exhibited at Marion Theatres.

Instead of doing "The Little French Girl," as she had planned, Betty Bronson is to play the lead in a picturization of Alice Duer Miller's novel, "Are Parents People?" it has been announced. The leading role in "The Little French Girl" is really a mother part and it would change the story too much to feature Betty as the little girl. Mary Brian, who played with Betty in "Peter Pan," will play in "The Little French Girl."

Bebe Daniels

When Bebe Daniels finishes work in her new picture, "His Crowded Hour," she is going to star in "The Manicure Girl." Bebe threatens to get a manicure job so she will know all about the profession. And we think she'd carry out the threat, too.

"The Great Divide," the Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer Production which is coming to the Lyric Theatre for four days, tells a story which has a particular appeal to women. The role of Stephen Ghent will be played by Conway Tearle, while Alice Terry will appear as the New England girl, Ruth Jordon. Others in the cast include Wallace Beery, ZaSu Pitts, Huntley Gordon, Allan Forest, George Cooper and Ford Sterling.

MARION AMBITIONS

Marion wants more population, more industry, more capital, more trade, more prosperity.

And the unfailing formula for accomplishing these ambitions is to make Marion attractive—then, keep it so. There is plenty of room in Marion for citizens of the right sort. They will come, if Marion broadcasts an inviting message beyond the borders of this community.

For years, country populations have gone cityward. But the peak has been reached. The tide has turned. City folks are flocking out of the small and medium sized towns—where they find more joy in living.

Marion can reap its share of this vast number of home seekers. But ambitions have got to be backed up by performance. We must be receptive to the coming of good citizens. We must stimulate pride and patriotism within the community.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

"Coming Through" is Thomas Meighan's latest production for Paramount, showing at the Lyric Theatre. The story is a picture version of "Bed Rock," a mining novel by Jack Bethea.

Thomas Meighan

Lila Lee, in her first screen role in more than a year, is featured at the head of a strong supporting cast. Wallace Beery gives one of the greatest characterizations as a roughneck mine foreman.

"Coming Through" has to do with a clerk who has big ideas and the ability to carry them out. We first see Tom keeping books in Pittsburgh. A whirlwind courtship an delopement with the president's daughter follows. The father calls him a fortune-hunter. Tom doesn't take the trouble to deny it and the girl turns against him.

Then the scene shifts to Colton, the wildest of mining camps just outside of Birmingham. Here's the scene of Tom's fight to prove himself worthy of a better job and the love of his estranged wife.

Lila Lee is featured opposite Mr. Meighan in the picture. Wallace Beery has a "heavy" role. Others in the cast are Lawrence Wheat, John Miltern, Frank Campeau, Gus Weinburg and Alice Knowland.

turization of the stage hit, "Lord Chumley," by David Belasco and Henry C. DeMille, is the feature at the Lyric Theatre for three days starting Thursday

Viola Dana, Theodore Roberts and Raymond Griffith are featured in the principal roles of the production.

The story is a melodramatic comedy and has to do with the Hon Lord Algernon Cholomondeley — Chumley for short—who, in one of the funniest pictures you've seen in years, succeeds in solving a mystery, saving a family name and winning the girl he loves.

There's a strong cast playing in support, including, among others Cyril Chadwick, Anna May Wong and William Boyd.

"The White Moth," which is to be shown at the Luna Lite Theatre for four days, is one of the most sensational and colorful stories that has been made for First National.

Barbara LaMarr, together with Conway Tearle, play the leading roles.

In "A Self-Made Failure," the First National Picture which opens at the Luna Lite for three days, J. K. McDonald again scores a clean knockout.

Those who saw his "Penrod and Sam" and "Boy of Mine" may be prepared to see even a better picture in "A Self-Made Failure."

MARCH

March is getting ready to come in like a lion or a lamb. You never know which it will be, but as it always goes out the other way it doesn't matter. In either case the backbone of winter will undergo its annual breaking and that's something.

March is a good month, a promise of better ones, a better month than those that have gone just before, but it's a month of raw winds and bad roads. Also, it's a month of static. In short, it's a good month to attend the theatre. That's about the only thing it has in common with other seasons.

The motion picture theatre, accorded a patronage support for greater than that accorded the stage theatre, accepts with that support a far greater responsibility and a far greater trust. This is no more than an automatic working out of the law of compensation.

The stage theatre of the present day makes a practically exclusive adult appeal. Stage plays of the day are written and acted by adults, stage theatre prices are high in keeping with that condition.

The motion picture theatre makes a family appeal. Motion picture plays are written and acted for adults and children at once. The picture playwright or actor must provide entertainment which is at once suitable and sufficient for adult and child. Motion

GOT ANY IDEAS?

Got any ideas? Ideas for making motion pictures better? For making Marion Theatre performances better? Or more convenient for you? Any ideas at all. The Marion Theatre Company wants them.

Possibly you've never thought of it just this way, but one of the chief reasons people attend the theatre is to get ideas, to break the deadly serious chain of daily thought, to see what somebody else is thinking about, and doing. Obviously, the theatre offering the most and best ideas, in pictures or otherwise, is the best theatre. On that belief, you are working for your own benefit as well as The Marion Theatre Company when you give them ideas for improving their shows.

Got any ideas? You can put your own price tag on them if they're good enough.

One more well known girl of the two reel comedies is about to step out into feature films. She is Vera Steadman, for several years a familiar figure in the Christie two-reelers, who has now been assigned to a part in "Stop Flirting."

Vera Steadman was one of the original Mack Sennett bathing girls, and has stuck to the two-reel film longer than any of her acquatic companions in the first much-photographed Sennett beauty spuad. She joined Christie comedies five years ago and has been with the Christie organization continuously since that time.

Ben Lyon sacrificed his yearning for college to follow the lure of the movies. Ben has the physical powers of a good half-back and love of good books, and now he is feeling what he missed, for he is playing a college boy in "The Necessary Evil," for First National.

Ben is co-featured with Viola Dana in "The Necessary Evil." In the supporting cast are Gladys Brockwell, Frank Mayo, Mary Thurman, Betty Jewel and Martha Madison.

Irving Cummings will direct Colleen Moore's next starring vehicle, "The Desert Flower."

The church advertised the motion picture in the Minneapolis newspapers, calling it "the greatest picture of the year." The public was promised 2,000 free seats up to 7:30 in the evening. News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

"Madonna of the Streets," Edwin Carewe's latest picture featuring Nazimova and Milton Sills, opens Sunday at the Lyric Theatre.

"Madonna of the Streets" pulses with all the glamour of life as it exists today in what is probably the most notorious of all underworlds.

It is the story of a woman who sets out to collect a debt that is due her and who finds her true soul instead; of one who finds salvation where revenge was sought. And it is the story of Morton, forced to resign from a great London Settlement house because of its criticism of his rich patrons for their oppression against the poor, who then goes among the unfortunate people spreading happiness with the aid of his suddenly inherited fortune.

Interwoven into the story are the characters of Lord Patrington, who is chiefly responsible for Morton's dismissal from the cathedral, the part being played to perfection by Claude Gillingwater; Lady Sarah, Patrington's daughter, played by Vivien Oakland, who aids Morton; Dr. Colbeck, played by Courtenay Foote, an English "highbrow", who after juggling a crazy monocle about for some time learns at last that Morton is not as bad as had at first been thought; Matron Elyard, played by Rosa Gore, a very snippy housekeeper, and Howard Bowman, played by Harold Goodwin, one of Morton's salvages, who falls in love with Mary Carlson after she had become the

THE COMMUNITY PAYS

When an embezzler breaks for cover with his spoils, the community pays, in good name as well as in cash.

When an unworthy citizen brings disrepute upon himself and his neighbors, the community pays again.

When mistaken voters place the wrong men in control, the community pays and pays and pays.

But there's another side of it.

When wage workers, citizens, office holders, business men work together, four square and shoulder to shoulder, upholding a clean standard of honesty and fair dealing, the community pays again—this time in personal, commercial and social profits beyond calculation.

This community pays.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles," which has become a love classic in literature, has been adapted to the screen and will be shown at the Lyric Theatre for four days starting Sunday. It is the biggest production made so far by Marshall Neilan, and is said to provide for Blanche Sweet, who plays Tess, the greatest role she has ever had.

"Tess of the D'Urbevilles" tells a story of a country maiden in Wessex who falls victim to the brutality and passion of a wealthy and unscrupulous young man. Later, Tess meets and marries the man she really loves —only to be deserted by him when she confesses the truth about her unfortunate past. Left alone in dire poverty and misfortune, Tess is again victimized by her original lover, who compels her to return to him, where she lives in lavish splendor. It is then that her husband, repentant too late, returns and precipitates the tragedy that follows. But the great love that Tess and her husband, Angel Clare, feel for each other is shown to live through eternity.

The supporting cast includes Conrad Nagel, Stuart Holmes, George Fawcett and many others. It is a Louis B. Mayer presentation, and was scenarized by Dorothy Farnum.

"The Dixie Handicap," the late production made by Reginald Barker for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, will be at the Lyric Theatre commencing Thursday for three days. It is a story of horse racing with a strong dash of romance added, culminating in the running of the Latonia stakes. The final racing scenes were photographed at Latonia, Kentucky, in order that authentic atmosphere might be obtained.

Frank Keenan heads the cast as a Southern Judge. Claire Windsor appears as his daughter, Lloyd Hughes plays the hero, a trainer, and others in the cast include Otis Harlan, John Sainpolis, Edward Martindel, Ruth King, and Joseph Morrison. Walde-

"The City That Never Sleeps." Paramount's drama of New York opens at the Luna Lite Theatre for a four days' run starting Sunday.

Briefly the story deals with a mother's sacrifice for her only daughter —her efforts to protect the child from the Tenderloin environment in which she herself was brought up. Later she comes face to face with the bitter realization that despite all she has done to prevent, her daughter is traveling too fast a pace. The manner in which she saves her daughter by making the supreme sacrifice provides a real thrill and leads to a mighty climax.

With a cast that includes such likeable players as Louise Dresser, Virginia Lee Corbin, Kathlyn Williams, Ricardo Cortez and Pierre Gendron there is no lack of acting talent.

Realistic, vivid, impressionistic — teeming with romance and color—that is the description given Cairo, Egypt, where many important scenes in "The Fortieth Door," which features Allene Ray, are laid. Departing from the "costume" pictures which so generally prevail at present in filmdom, "The Fortieth Door" is a story of Egypt of today.

A most interesting plot is presented in the screen version of "The Fortieth Door." It will no doubt be a welcome relief from the ordinary run of motion pictures. Allene Ray and Bruce Gordon are seen in the two leading roles, with a supporting cast that includes Anna May Wong, Frank Lackteen, David Dunbar, Frankie Mann, Lillian Gale and Whitehorse.

Hazel Keener, reputed to be "the most photographed girl in the world" has been given a part in the new Harold Lloyd picture which the screen comedian is now producing.

Miss Keener is a product of Chicago nad has posed for commercial photographers in all parts of the United States. Over one hundred big American manufacturers use Miss Kenner's beautiful face on their advertising. Miss Kenner's screen career started as a result of a newspaper beauty contest held in Chicago four years ago. Since that time her progress in motion pictures has been rapid.

THINK WHAT THEY MISSED

Plato, Socrates, Nero, Alexander, Solomon, Napoleon, Columbus, Confucius, Chaucer, Milton—mix them up any way you like, add to the list until you're tired, and then think what they missed. They never saw a motion picture show!

Great as they were, how much greater would they have been had they enjoyed the privilege of the screen.

Lucky, aren't we?

"NO PLACE LIKE HOME"

"There's no place like home." No disputing that. But you do like to get out once in a while. And the theatre is the best place except home to be.

Home comfort is here, your family sits with you, you feel at home because the standard of everything about you is the same standard you insist upon for your home.

No, there is no place like home; but there's no place like a good theatre either.

WHAT YOU BUY

What you buy isn't always wrapped up in the package. You can't wrap up service, assurance of quality, good faith. Yet you don't trade where you don't get them.

These intangible qualities are prime assets of the theatre. The theatre that sells them is the theatre you attend and the one that survives. You wouldn't be here unless you knew we sell them.

the result of an accident met with on location at Barstow, California.

The accident took place on February 4th during the filming of "The Desert Flower," when Miss Moore, the star, fell off a handcar. At that time the seriousness of her injury was not realized and the following night, against counsel of her physicians, she attended the annual ball in Los Angeles of the Wampas, the western association of film publicity men, when she was presented with a thousand dollar cup as a reward for being elected the "baby" star of the screen who has made the greatest advance in artistry and popularity of any of her motion picture rivals during the past four years.

The following day, X-ray examinations revealed a bruised and dislocated vertebrae, and Miss Moore was ordered to bed and placed in the plaster cast. Meantime production of "The Desert Flower" which at the time of the mishap was one day ahead of schedule, is held up pending her complete recovery.

Glenn Hunter, shown above, is tired of playing the awkward youth and other ridiculous parts in the movies. He is looking for more serious roles, and to show he is in earnest about it, he turned down a play in which he was offered the leading, but comedy, role. Glenn was seen in Marion recently as Merton in "Merton of the Movies."

Another screen "find" has been discovered by the motion picture producing organization that only recently lifted Betty Bronson and Mary Brian from obscurity to fame. This newest "find," Lawrence Grey, has been placed under contract with Paramount.

Jack Dempsey's manager, Jack Kearns, is quite upset. In fact, he remarks that Dempsey is "love goofy" because the prize fighter has announced that he will never again enter the fight arena after his wedding to Estelle Taylor in June.

However, Dempsey insists that he's through, and that in all probability Estelle will abandon her screen career when she becomes Mrs. Dempsey.

Dempsey can afford to retire. His fortune is estimated to be well over the million dollar mark.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

"Peter Pan," Sir James M. Barrie's wonderful fantasy, has thrilled theatre goers for more than twenty years all over the world, will be shown at the Lyric Theatre for four days starting Sunday. The script was prepared by Willis Goldbeck and submitted to Sir James M. Marrie, who approved of its treatment of his story.

The story, adapted for the screen is a delightful, modern fairy tale. "Peter Pan" is a bright, mischievous boy, head of the cult for having a good time.

Betty Bronson, selected by Barrie himself, plays the title role. With her appear Ernest Torrence as 'Captain Hook," the terrible pirate, Cyril Chadwick, as "Mr. Darling," Virginia Brown Faire as "Tinker-Bell," the roudy fairy who washes pots and pans for the other fairies, and Anna May Wong, as "Tiger Lily," chieftainess of the Indian braves.

A thrilling story of a pioneer mining town of the West, in which a girl and a small boy help a man find himself, is the latest First National photoplay, "Frivolous Sal," which comes to the Lyric Theatre on Thursday for three days.

"Frivolous Sal" has a scenic background the like of which has rarely been seen on the screen in a dramatic production. Rainier National Park, in Northwestern Washington, and the great mining region of Idaho's Couer d'Alene were chosen as locations.

Some of the story's most important action takes place in a huge cavern that a stream of melting ice has carved out under the famous Nisqually glacier, near the top of Mount Rainier. The cast includes Eugene O'Brien, Mae Busch, Ben Alexander, Mildred Harris, Mitchell Lewis and Tom Santschi.

"The Arab," Rex Ingram's first production since "Sacramouche," is coming to the Luna Lite Theatre on Sunday, for a run of four days. "The Arab" is an exciting story of the love of a Shiek's son for the daughter of an American missionary; the attempted massacre of the Christians by the Governor of the Turkish province; and their rescue by the Arab's own warriors.

Ramon Novarro and Alice Terry have the chief roles, and it is said that both appear to better advantage than ever before. The background and costumes are authentic, since Mr. Ingram took his company to Northern Africa to obtain the real atmosphere.

Theatres are distinguished by their front row friends. If there are few vacant seats in front, it's a good theatre. If the front rows are vacant, there's something wrong with it. The reasons are interesting.

The front rows are occupied by the real "fans." They know pictures and theatres. They've studied them. They know that they will not have their view of the screen interupted by people passing in front of them. They come in early, select the seat they want, then enjoy the introductory short subjects and the feature picture in unbroken ease.

The thorough "fan" always sees the feature picture from the first, just as he reads a book or watches a stage play. He knows the author wrote the story that way, the director made it that way, and that he will like it best if he sees it that way.

Your Printers

THAT'S the way we like to style ourselves. We like to think of this printing shop as an organization working for YOU, meeting your needs, carrying out your wishes and giving you that first-hand, personal, interested attention that may be characterized as service, and spelled with a great big capital "S."

You want your printing to make a favorable impression on its recipient. The average buyer of printing does not know how to direct his printer to produce this sort of printing. He should not have to. That is the province of the printer himself.

There are many different kinds of printers with greatly differing standards of quality. The one who can best serve you is the one who has done high class work for others and who is both ready and able to offer suggestions before a job is begun.

Such a printer knows not only the mechanics of his business and how to use his tools to the best advantage, but he is a student of effects.

That's us!

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

Film fans, who are firmly convinced that "seeing is believing," are hereby warned to prepare for an optic shock. "The Top of the World," the new Paramount picture which opens at the Lyric for three days starting Thursday, proves conclusively that you can't believe your own eyes—at any rate, not in the movies!

Marvels were worked with a motion picture camera during the filming of this melodramatic thriller, and the startling results achieved are said to have amazed all those who were privileged to get an advance glimpse of the production.

James Kirkwood, who shares featured honors with Anna Q. Nilsson, Raymond Hatton and Sheldon Lewis, plays a dual role. The two characters (both in reality Kirkwood) move about freely without any apparent camera limitations. At several points in the picture, Kirkwood shakes hands with himself. Once he grapples with himself and the two characters fight furiously. At still another point Kirkwood is seen lifting his other self to his shoulders, carrying him through a door and throwing him on the back of a horse. At all times, the two characters pass each other in the same strip of film as though they were separate and individual personalities.

Norma Talmadge's screen version of the stage drama, "Secrets," opens at the Lyric Theater for four days starting Sunday has been filmed almost as it was played on the stage.

In "Secrets," Norma Talmadge has again for her leading man Eugene O'Brien, the most popular male support with whom she has ever played. The Talmadge-O'Brien combination was broken up a year ago when O'Brien decided to return to the stage, but public demand was so persistent that Producer Schneck was compelled to lure O'Brien back to the screen.

"Secrets" is Norma Talmadge's greatest picture. In this production Norma plays four roles, that of a young mother, a middle-aged matron and an aged woman. The picture is cast in four periods, 1923, 1888, 1870 and 1865, and the action takes place both in the far West and in modern society settings. In all four periods Norma displays a remarkable range of characterizations.

AFTER THE END

After the picture is over—after you have read "The End" in that beautiful lettering all the film companies use—what next? What thought remains in your mind? Possibly you've never given it much consideration, but we do.

Billy Conners thinks of that when he selects his pictures. He don't book pictures that he thinks will not leave you refreshed mentally and enriched intelligently. He books the pictures that he believes will not only give you a pleasant hour or two of entertainment but will enable you to feel as you leave the theatre that your time has not been spent in wholly idle amusement.

Next time you read "The End" on a picture you have seen at a Marion theatre, reflect for just a moment and see whether you think their policy is worth while.

PICTURE PROGRAM

No theatre has fulfilled its mission to the amusement seeker of this community it serves unless it makes its program so diversified that it appeals to every class of theatre-goer.

Today the motion picture is paramount in its appeal to the masses—and the classes. But care must be exercised in the selection of the motion picture programs. They must, first, be entertaining, and clean and, subtly, carry home a lesson either in morals or in living, and yet bring education and enligtenment to the impressive and receptive mind.

A motion picture program must be diversified in the type of entertainment it presents; too much drama, either society or melodrama, would soon tire—a program of nothing but comedy would soon lose zest. Each famous star has a certain appeal to certain followers, and this condition must be watched so that every star has a chance to entertain.

No theatre, as we have said before is greater than the diversified program it presents to its patrons. In the theatres in Marion these programs are diversified—different in the motion picture features, the comedies, the shorter subjects and the music.

The best of the better motion pictures, the chosen features of Paramount, Warner Bros. First National Pictures, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, all find their way to the screen of Marion theatres and these features are embelished with the best of stage attractions.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

Bebe Daniels comes to the Lyric Sunday for four days, as the star of the paramount picture, "Miss Bluebeard."

Bebe's role in the picture is one of a French actress. She goes to London on a holiday and, through a series of most amusing incidents enroute, she arrives there the wife of two men.

This piquant situation and the complications that follow are said to provide the volatile Bebe with an excellent opportunity for her comedy talents. The fun, while at all times clean and wholesome, is declared to be practically continuous. The stage play made from the same story, in which Irene Bordoni starred, scored a big success both on Broadway and on the road, auguring well for the picture.

rousing good story make "Broken Barriers," which opens at the Lyric Theatre Thursday, one of the most entertaining pictures of the year. Rarely, if ever, have we seen such a collection of stars in one picture.

The story is a powerful pictorial discussion of the divorce question—it plays, its worth, its uselessness and the part it plays in the philosophy of the younger generation.

THE THEATRE FAMILY.

The theatre is unlike any other business institution in its influance upon those who are of it. Spending the major portion of our waking hours in the playhouse, we necessarily sacrifice something of the human life which is so important to human welfare. As a natural readjustment, we make the theatre a home.

It is just that to all who labor here for your amusement. We are a big family, living harmoniously together, perhaps a bit more harmoniously together than most families. We live our work. We take a pride in our business home and we strive to make it perfect. That's just another of the unwritten reasons why the motion picture theatre has developed as it has.

News of Next Week's ATTRACTIONS

Douglas Fairbanks' "The Thief of Bagdad," which has been generally accepted as being the most amazing developments in the moving picture drama, will be presented at the Lyric Theatre all week.

In "The Thief of Bagdad" there has been realized the most extraordinary happenings, so amazing that the thought of picturing them had not heretofore been thought possible. In this picture, founded upon the Arabian Nights, Douglas Fairbanks seems pretty nearly to have covered the universe, both of fact and fancy. There will be discovered in it scenes under the sea, on the earth, and in the air—including many imaginary places that exist only in fantastic dreams.

The more important members of the cast are Julanne Johnson, formerly a member of the famous Morgan Dancers, who impersonates the Princess; So-Jin Kamayama, imported from Japan where he has been the Shakesperean actor, who impersonates the Mongol Prince. Anna May Wong, a charming little Chinese flapper, is seen in the part of the slave. Snitz Edwards is the Thief's evil associate; Brandon Hurst, is the Caliph.

A splendid picture and one that will appeal strongly to all types of theatre-goers will be shown at the Luna Lite for four days. It is "The Woman on the Jury."

It is one of the most virile stories that have ever found their way to the screen, "The Woman on the Jury" is especially noteworthy for the remarkable cast which interprets the tale. Probably never before has such an assembly of histrionic talent been found together in one production.

At the head of the cast is Sylvia Breamer, whose beauty and talent are making her more popular daily.

The villain of the tale is Lew Cody, a specialist along that line who has little competition, and the hero is Frank Mayo, who has been a star in his own right. The cast includes such favorites as Henry B. Withall, Lew Cody, Bessie Love, Mary Carr, Hobart Bosworth, Myrtle Stedman, Roy Stewart, Ford Sterling and Stanton Heck.

Coming to the Luna Lite Theatre next Thursday for three days is "The Man Life Passed By," a Metro picture, which is said to contain many thrilling and unusual scenes.

It is the story of a man whose bitterness in heart against life is changed by a woman to love, and the woman is the daughter of of his enemy. But this happens only after the girl's younger sister barely escapes the penalty of her father's wrong against the man whose invention he stole.

A peculiar coincidence is that the Novak sisters have the roles of sisters in the photoplay, Jane the elder, and Eva the younger. Mr. Marmont is "the man passed by life," and Hobart Bosworth is "Iron Man" Moore, the girl's father. Cullen Landis has the role of Moore's secretary, who is in love with the younger sister.

"The Man Life Passed by" is swift-moving drama, loaded with action, and with skilled comedy

CLEAN PICTURES.

Nice people tell you they want clean pictures. That may be their way of convincing you that they're nice people, and of course they couldn't say they didn't want them, but the subject continues to be discussed. It seems a popular tonic, despite the fact that it insults the picture industry. No one seems to think of that.

Passing the insult, there is utterly no ground for concern as to the cleanliness of pictures while attendance at theatres continues to be permitted only after the payment of a fee. The fee itself is insurance against offense. Because of the fee, there is money in the making of motion pictures, and nobody endangers their source of income by impropriety. It simply isn't done, and perhaps that's the best of all safeguards against improper entertainment in motion pictures.

If one has difficulty in wearing the peaked Alpine Hat, the next smartest is the all draped turbin of satin.

Except for evening, the lighter nude tones in hose are not as smart as the richer tans.

Moderation marks the foot mode. The smartest shoe has a medium toe and heel, with a single strap or no strap at all.

Scarf and standing- collars, em broidery, deep elbow cuffs and capelets promise to make their appearance on the smartest springtime coats.

* * *

Pearls still hold their exalted position as the favorite of the smart women, and to judge by their length one would imagine they came by the yard.

the past. Today it creates the smartest dress hats.

All-over beading glitters on many a new frock.

Glace lizzard and crocodile leather are shining expondents in the newest purses.

While the ensemble will be spring's darling, the suit with the short jacket promises to be extremely popular.

* * *

Very gay, almost "noisy" kashas and flannels will be conspicuous for springtime sports.

Scarfs still flutter gaily from the newest necklines. Usually they match the dress.

* * *

Gardenias,, as nature made them, do not satisfy Dame Fashion. She now shellacs them in red, black and tangerine.

Obre coloring has now invaded even the daytime mode. One sees it for satin and georgette afternoon frocks, knitted sport wear, and in the newest felt hats. And one hears that even lingerie has succumbed to its charm!

* * *

We thought they had tried everything but now we see "marbleized" bags, bloves, hats and shoes!

* * *

The fabrics most popular far spring are kasha, totoman, alpaca, and satin crepe.

The inverted pleat has evidently come to stay.

Florenz Ziegfeld, famous for his "Ziegfeld Follies," is going to enter into the production of motion pictures himself, in addition to supplying embryo stars to the cinema world. Mr. Ziegfeld is to supervise the activities of putting his first picture, a version of his play, "Kid Boots," into production. He also plans to make a picture under the engaging title of "Glorifying the American Girl."

* * *

Pauline Starke has just signed a long-term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Pauline has been coming rapidly to the fore, during the last year or so, her work in recent pictures having attracted the attention of various producers.

* * *

The liveliest piece of news on the Hal Roach lot this week is the breaking down of the exclusive circle of "Our Gang" and the admitting of little Johnny Downs, age nine, as a member of the gang."

* * *

Shirley Mason is co-featured with Anna Q. Nilsson and Lewis Stone in the First National picture, "The Talker." She was loaned by William Fox for one of the principal roles in the production.

Louise Fazenda has become a Spanish dancer. Really, there's no reason why she shouldn't, you know, for Louise is part Spaniard herself.

It is possible that Rex Ingram may direct Ramon Novarro in his next feature to follow "Ben Hur." Novarro on his return from Rome, signed a long-term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer, and three stories have already been selected as starring vehicles for him when work in "Ben Hur" is completed.

Ingram, who discovered Novarro, knows and understands him as no one else does. It would be interesting to see them working together again. The picture would probably be made abroad, as Ingram prefers working in Europe.

Barbara La Marr is back in New York from a vacation spent in Central America, Cuba and Florida, has started work on her next Sawyer-Lubin starring vehicle, "The White Monkey."

Probably the oldest policy issued by an insurance company was the one put out to Bessie Love, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, and Lloyd Hughes, during the production of "The Lost World," the sensational First National picture based on Conan Doyle's story. The actors have themselves heavily insured against python bites and the possible consequences resulting therefrom.

* * *

Charlie Ray has chosen a Christie Comedy lass, Duane Thompson, to play opposite him in his next picture, "Some Pumpkins." Mary Carr will play the role of his mother, and the picture is said by the energetic press agent to be "wholly Rayesque" in flavor.

Another change in title. Glenn Hunter and Edna Murphy, during a radio dialogue the other night, were making fun of the title of the picture which they had just completed for Universal, "Once a Peddler." Glenn jokingly suggested "The Little Giant" as a better title. The Universal authorities took the joke seriously however, and accordingly changed the title of the picture to the one suggested by its young star.

A very interesting cast is being selected to appear in the Metro-Goldwyn feature, "Sun Up." Lucile La Verne, noted New York character actress, who played the mother role in the original stage production, will enact the role for the screen also. Conrad Nagel will have the important role of the son, while Pauline Starke will be the girl. George K. Arthur, the young Englishman who signed recently with Metro-Goldwyn will also play an important part.

* * *

Marshall Neilan and wife, Blanche Sweet, have made a new screen "find," who will enact the role intended for Mary Pickford in a picture "Micky" wrote especially for her and is now going to produce for Metro-Goldwyn. She is Sally O'Neill, and he discovered her dancing at a hotel in Hollywood. Others in the cast include Charlie Murray and Ford Sterling.

Conway Tearle, who returned from New York a short time ago, has signed for a feature role in "Just a Woman," an M. C. Levee production. Claire Windsor and Percy Marmont will also appear in the cast.

"Our Gang" has completed its latest Hal Roach comedy, in which the neighborhood rascals, under Robert McGowan's direction, toted guns and wore chaps in true Western style. Incidentally, besides Mickey Daniels, Mary Kornman, Joe Cobb, Jackie Condon and Farina, this new picture marks the entrance in "Our Gang" of Johnny Downs, nine years of age, a typical American boy type.

Ricardo Cortez has been selected by Paramount for the leading male role of "In the name of Love," the picture in which Greta Nisson will make her initial screen appearance in this country. In addition to Ricardo and Greta, a notable array of players is allotted to this, the first directoral effort of Howard Higgins, former story and scenario writer. Wallace Beery has a part different from any heretofore attempted, and others in the cast are Raymond Hatton, Edythe Chapman, Lillian Leighton and Richard Arlen, a new screen juvenile.
